Teacher Gains Love of Pupils

When Johann Goethe wrote, "Everywhere, we learn only from those whom we love.", he must have had Mrs. Natalee Parr in mind. For the past eighteen years she has given totally of herself to her students.

Through her unending willingness to give, she has won the admiration of her colleagues, as well as, her students. She never seems to tire, even under all the exasperating questions of her students. It is through her teaching that we, the students at Arlington High, have gained a better understanding of our nation's history. She has expanded our knowledge about life in general.

Dedicating this year's Colt Corral to her seems somehow an inadequate expression of our gratitude for her high devotion to her work and to the community. The 1979 Colt Corral is hers; and it is with the greatest of love, respect and appreciation that we dedicate it to Mrs. Parr.

Mrs. Parr illustrates historical events.

Mrs. Parr explains facts about labor unions to American History student Rhonda Sullivan.

"Don't you see!" exclaims Mrs. Parr to her students.

It was hard for us to adjust to the computers.

The traditional Howdy Assembly welcomed awe-stricken freshmen to our halls.

As I mount these pictures in my scrapbook, I begin to recall all the laughter, tears, traditions, and changes that took place at Arlington High this year. I recall all those funny assemblies — Howdy Day, Christmas, American Heritage, and Journalism. We all had such a good laugh and we felt unified.

The Spirit Week cries of "Jar Lamar" echoed differently than past cries of "Cram Sam."

The addition of yellmen to cheerleaders simply boosted the Colt spirit.

Oh, we had our share of disappointment — like the fear of having our prom in Arlington and then losing the district crown in football by only one game.

While winding down Main Street, we recalled the parades of the past.

Arlington High is built on tradition and this year was no different — well, not much. Besides the addition of yellmen as well as cheerleaders, sixties day, the arrival of computerized schedules, and the change of Spirit Week from Sam to Lamar, the traditions remained intact.

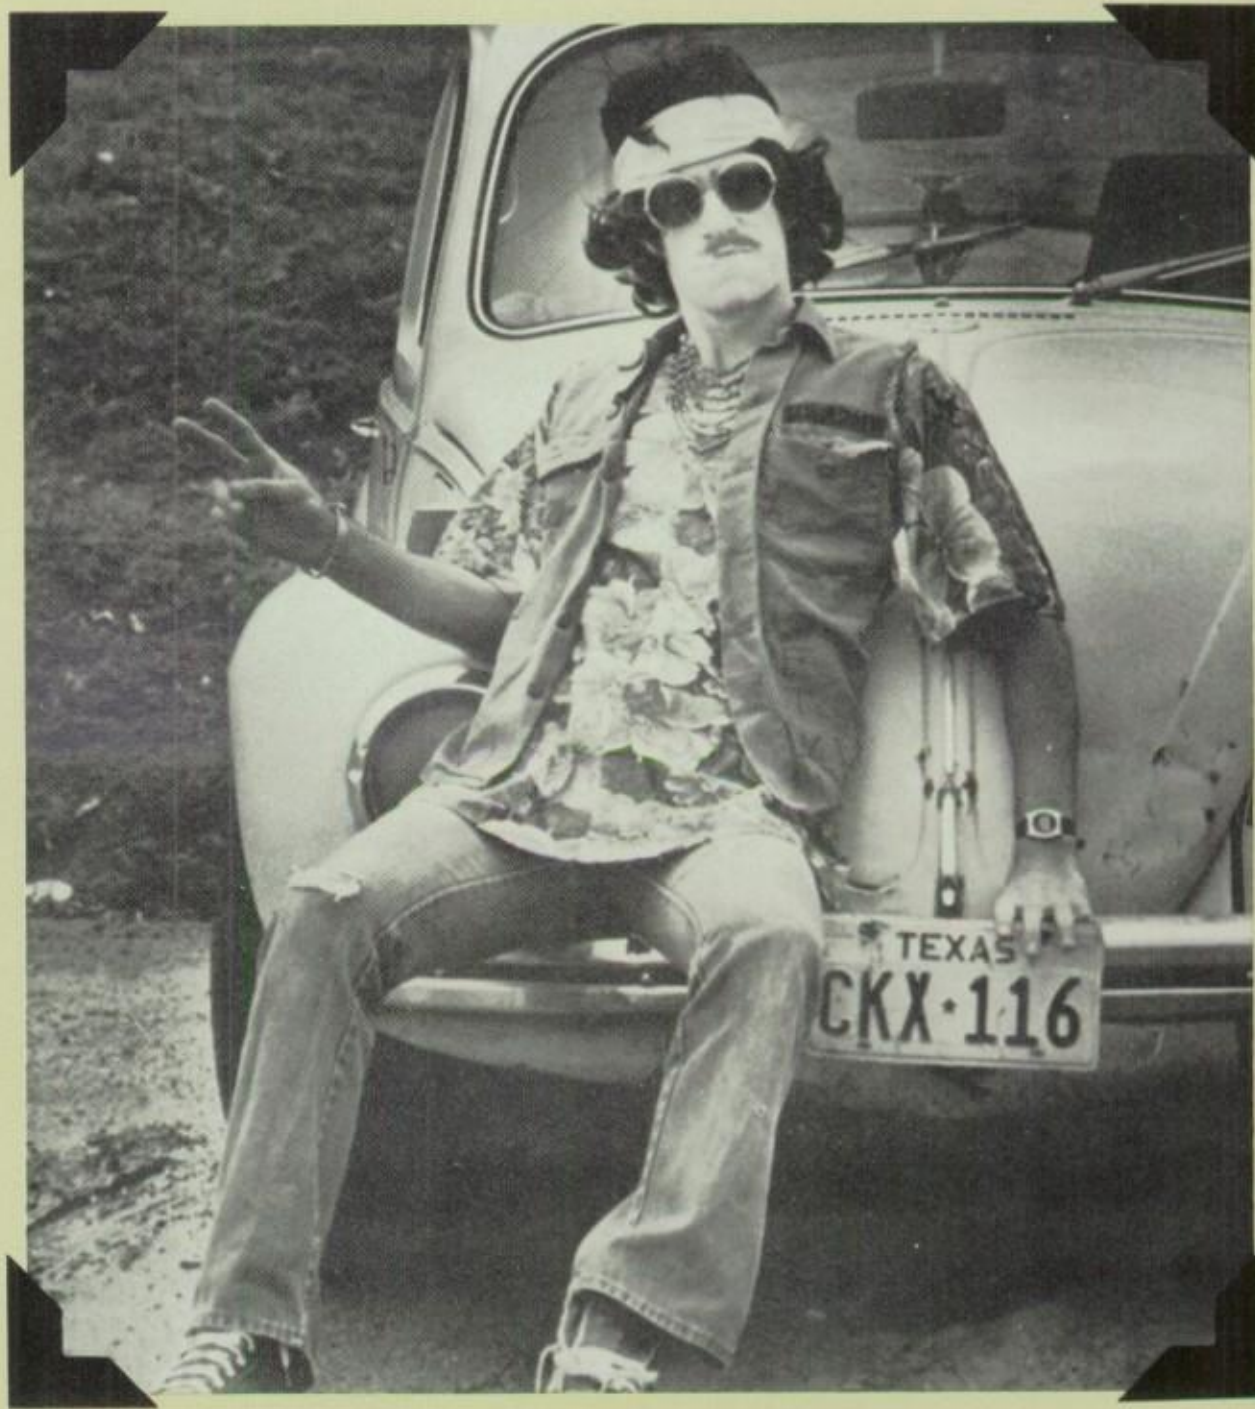

We all enjoyed the traditions — Faculty Skit, Homecoming Parade, Colt County Fair, and American Heritage. These traditions, added to our unity, made it possible for us to withstand the disappointments and accept the changes. The time we spent together loving, excelling, playing, and giving brought us through our hardships and helped make us who we are.

Mrs. Roark entertained us in the Faculty Skit.

We all enjoyed the "Old West" at the annual American Heritage Assembly.

Having lived through the '60's, Kerry Hackenberg, along with the rest of us, enjoyed '60's Day.

We seniors held many class meetings to discuss the Prom "situation."

Both teachers and students enjoyed the activities at the festive Colt County Fair.

While mounting these pictures to tell the story of the events of the year, I hope that I can paint an unbiased picture that will enable each of us to remember the changes and the traditions that are Arlington High.

We took time to love and be loved . . .

Tia Walker and Bill Bunch, along with the rest, put on our best for Halloween dress-up day.

First Days Kickoff '78

Scribbles, schedules, and sophomores marked the beginning of the '78-79 school year. During mid-August students gathered about the student lounge, picked up their '78 yearbooks, and scribbled clever anecdotes in each other's books. The final realization of the impending school year came about at the end of August when students had to pick up their schedules.

To the teachers the new computerized schedules proved to be an easier method of registering, but to the students it seemed to be a jumble of numbers and forms.

Howdy Day officially began with the traditional assembly where sophomores first tried to master the lyrics to the AHS fight song and alma mater. When the second period bell rang upperclassmen stalked the halls in hope of finding unwary sophs. Seniors and juniors also had to be ready to chant, "Sons of the white and green . . ." With the sophs officially welcomed, it was now to the serious business of the 3 R's.

Changes Occur; Traditions Still Remain

Old faces departed, familiar faces remained, and new faces appeared. This was the scene during the first weeks at AHS. Mrs. Mildred Helms, assistant principal, left AHS to accept a job at the administration building. With the departure of Mrs. Helms, AHS counselor, Mrs. Carol Winter, moved down the hall from the counseling office to take over the job Mrs. Helms left behind. Although this change in position rearranged the faculty, familiar faces still remained.

The old traditional saying, "I had a dream . . ." was still heard at the pep rallies as Mr. James Crouch added spirit to the assemblies.

A new face was seen when students met foreign exchange student Pierre JeanRay. Pierre was given a taste of Texas style when AFS members presented him with a pair of overalls. Clubs also had new identification. Creatively designed T-shirts showed several clubs' mottos. Many of these T-shirts were made by the Art Club. Some of the features of AHS have changed, though the dominant profile of Arlington High School remains traditional.

Drama Holds First Sack Lunch Theater

To the backdrop of munching potato chips and slurping of milk, "lumberjacks" and other men performed during lunch hours for Arlington High School students and teachers.

The first Sack Lunch Theater was held during the month of October for the enjoyment of AHSers. Scenes from Neil Simon's play, reenactments of "Steve Martin Mull," National Lampoon, Monty Python material, and musical entertainment composed the program for the 55-minute theater. The month of October also included the sale of the AHS yearbook. Colt Corral Staffers promoted the sales by wearing t-shirts inscribed with "Picture Yourself! Colt Corral '79."

Six seniors received word that they were named finalists for national merit scholarships. Making the elite list were Reed Walker, John Hulme, Britt Brookshire, Bill Pribyl, Scott Camp, and Doug Moore.

Halftime Activities Highlight Homecoming

It was September 29, 1978 and excitement was brewing within the walls of AHS. It was the commencement of the 1978 Homecoming.

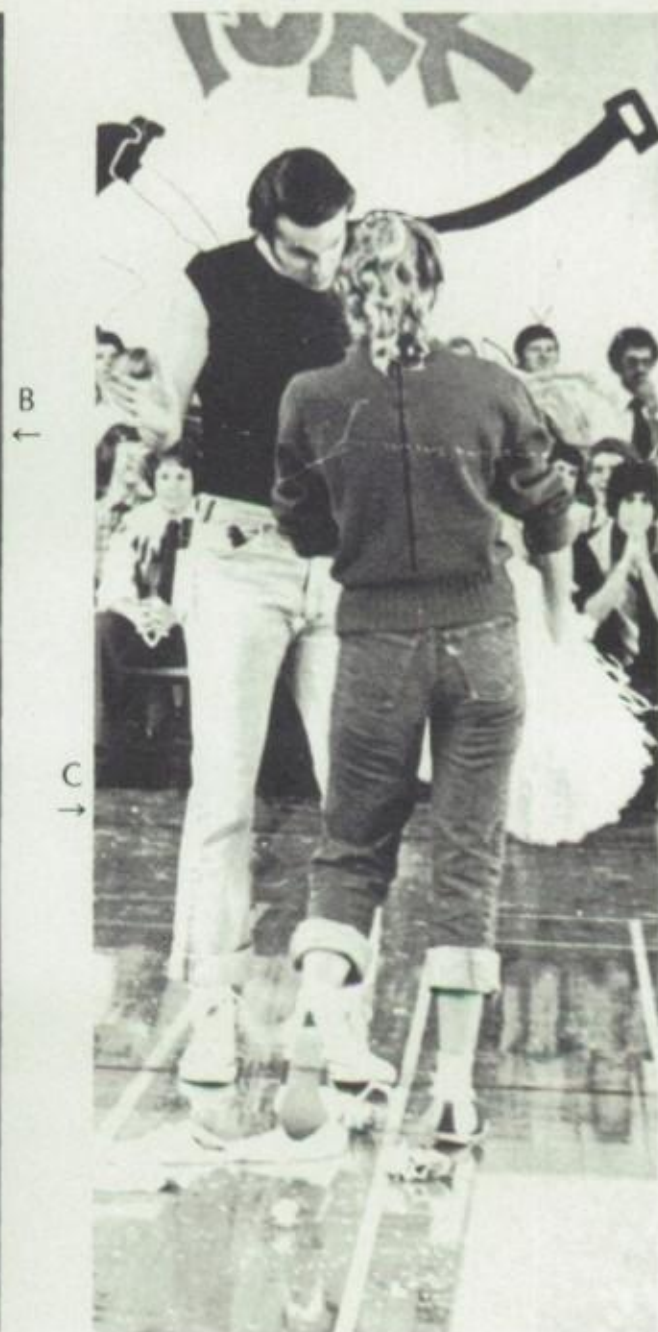

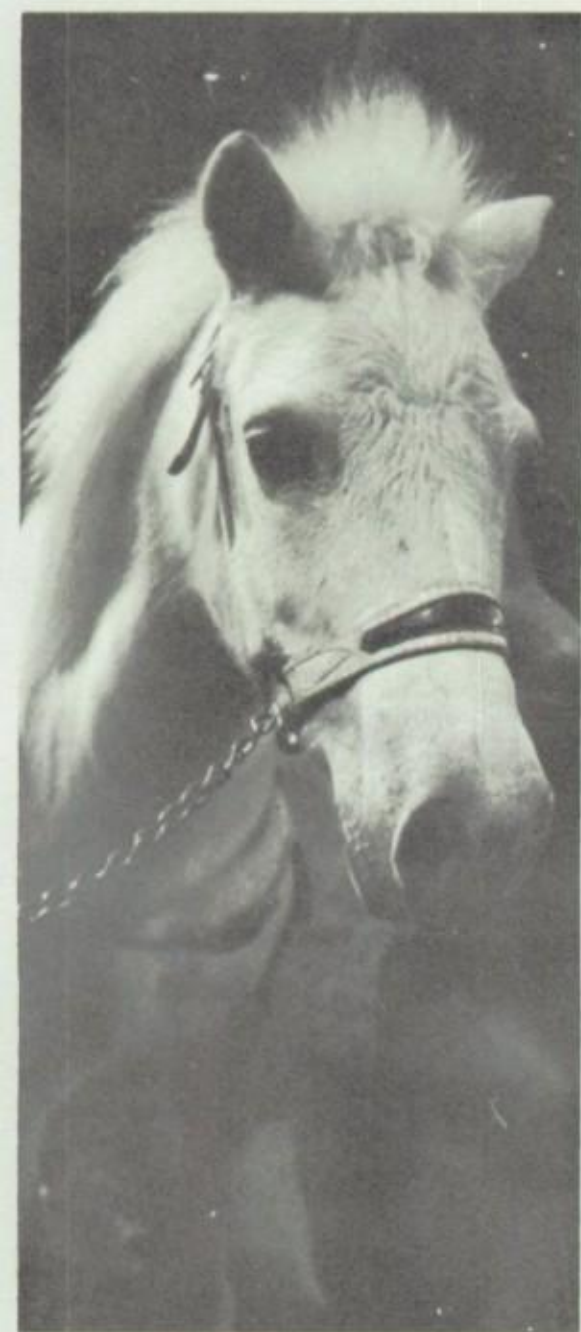

Activities began with the Homecoming Pep Rally. Sophomore and junior princess nominees were named, and the winners were announced as Sandy Buckner and Barbara Doyle. Former Homecoming King and Queen Paul Skinner and Kelly Frye were in attendance and presented with a boutonniere and roses. Later the earliest graduates present were given roses.

Teachers then showed their skill with the traditional faculty skit. It was a modified version of the movie, "Grease." Miss Cynthia Mitchell portrayed Sandy, while Mr. Barry Wilmoth took the character of Danny. Teachers danced and pantomimed to the music and script.

The day's activities concluded with the Homecoming game when the Colts battled the highly ranked Lewisville Farmers. The Colts upset the Farmers 31-14.

The traditional part of Homecoming came at halftime. Homecoming King and Queen winners were announced as Baylor Brown and Tammy Kirkpatrick while the band played "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

'Little Arlie Says Plant the Farmers'

The whistle was blown, police motorcycles roared, and Parade Marshall, Dale Archer, commanded the start of the traditional Homecoming parade. First to pass by the onlookers on Main Street were the Homecoming King and Queen Nominees, D'Lynn Hollowell, Tammy Kirkpatrick, Susie Reeves, Janet Wilson, Jay Aldriedge, Baylor Brown, Kevin Webb, and Jeff Lambert perched in shiny Corvettes and convertibles, who smiled and waved to spectators. Junior and sophomore princesses, Barbara Doyle and Sandy Buckner followed closely behind.

Next to proceed down the parade route were the class and club floats. Each group voted on how to complete the slogan, "Little Arlie says . . ." Sophomores came out winners in the class division with the theme, "Little Arlie says plant the farmers." The Art Club was the club recipient of $50 for the best club entry. Other class slogans were the seniors' "Little Arlie sez: Pitch them farmers," and the junior class' ". . . Cultivate the Farmers."

Individuals also threaded their way through the parade route. Thespians dressed in costumes, individuals tossed candy, journalists threw out issues of The Colt, ag students rode their horses, and band members and Colt Kickers played and marched to the fight song.

After winding down Main Street and turning right on Center, the parade ended at the UTA parking lot on Mitchell.

Climaxing the day's events was the Colt victory over Lewisville's Farmers.

Other float themes included FHA's "Not all wives are farmer's wives" and Key Club's "Plow the farmers."

'Cram Sam'

"Cram Sam" Week was the spirited days preceding Arlington's game against cross-town rival Sam Houston. Formerly Spirit Week, "Cram Sam" Week came into being as a tradition of its own. AHS goes to all extremes to "Cram" SHHS.

At the beginning of the week students painted their cars with slogans. AHS Student Council made a wager with SHHS Student Council with the losers having to sing the winner's fight song in front of the victor's student body. Another bet was made between the journalism departments of the two schools with a pizza for the winner.

On Friday a jubilant pep rally was held on the football field. Senior girls performed a skit demonstrating the outcome of the game.

On Friday evening a car caravan left AHS for Cravens Field with the best decorated car winning a cash prize from the student council. It was a tight game, but the spirit paid off for AHS with a victorious win of 7-0.

(E) Lourdes Hudson, Tricia Yarbrough, Lisa Stevens, Diane Valentine, and Dana Quattlebaum demonstrate the Colts' victory over Sam. (F) Sam Houston Student Council pays their wager by singing the AHS fight song.

AHS Says 'Jar Lamar'

"Spike a Vike," "Jar Lamar," and "Sink A Viking" were chanted throughout AHS during the second week of October. It was then Arlington High met its most competitive opponent, Lamar High School.

Activities of Spirit Week included the hall decorating and horseshoe hiding contests. The seniors came out winners in the decorating with an elaborately green and white decked middle hall. In addition to these contests, Student Council members planned various dress-up days for this week. These included Hat Day on Tuesday, Overall Day on Wednesday, Football Sticker Day on Thursday, and Green T-shirt Day on Friday. In spite of the spirit, AHS came out on the short side of the score.

"Scapino" Adds Italian Accent to AHS

"Scapino," the drama department's season opener was presented in the Arlington High Auditorium, October 26 and 28. Taking the title role was a senior, Clint Bullard, with the part of his sidekick, Sylvestro, played by John Boomer. Geronte was played by Jerry Hill, while Leandro was covered by Jim Rowell.

Other main characters included Steve Morris as Ottorio, Steve Menteer as Carlo, Elizabeth MaHaffey as Giancinta, and Leslie Hudson as Zerbinetta. Also appearing were the nurse, portrayed by Mary Blinn; two waitresses, played by Andrea Nelson and Diane Valentine; the headwaiter covered by Dana Mullen; with Paul Cobb as another waiter. Jeff Childs and Sheri Schoenecker took the non-speaking parts of the tourists. Other non-speaking parts were played by Greta Fink and Elaine Minor who portrayed two young girls.

Christmas Enlightens Days

Christmas week began with excitement brewing in the air. Students searched their minds to think of a creative door design. Doors reflected the current pastimes with decorations of toga parties and idol Steve Martin. Mrs. Martha Roark's home room won the contest with a Sesame Street design.

Foreign Language students gathered in the cafeteria and caroled Christmas songs. The German, French, and Spanish students sang in their respective languages and finally harmonized together in English.

The Christmas assembly climaxed the short week. The faculty choir sang an arrangement of Christmas carols, while choir members performed various Christmas melodies. Student Council representatives did a production of Charles Schulz's "A Charlie Brown Christmas."

School finally ended at 2:30 on Wednesday afternoon. Students had various activities planned for the holiday. Many spread about the nation on ski trips, and others enjoyed family holidays at home.

Some of the foreign songs included France's "Un Flambeau Jeanette Isabelle" and Germany's "Stille Nacht" and "O Tannenbaum."

Frolics Intrigue Audiences

Various shows entertained audiences at the Colt County Fair. Three performances drew students, teachers, and parents to Arlington High School.

The traditional show, The Senior Saloon, was held in the cafeteria. The entire presentation was a pretend rehearsal. Senior Roger Reynolds filled the part of the director at the performance. He made interruptions calling the various acts to perform. Acts included lumberjacks, pianists, singers, and mimics of the popular "Saturday Night Live."

The rock band's presentation including band members Clem Countess, Jim Rowell, Mark Stevens, Jack Wolverton, and Cydney Curtis was performed in the auditorium.

Presenting The Country Band

show were band members Clint Bullard, Katy Gaby, David Harry, Mark Stevens, Woody Cash, and Scott Agnew. The band played for a country dance in the gym, and later held a concert in the auditorium.

Probably the main attraction at the fair was the popular Senior Raffle. Raffle tickets were sold to teachers and students for twenty-five cents each. Senior Council members collected prizes from local merchants. These prizes, which included dinners, CB's, and jewelry, were raffled at intervals during the evening.

Capers, frolics, games, dances, booths, and refreshments ended with a jovial time for all, but the reality of the fair's end came with the clean-up.

Midway Enlivens CC Fair

Hey! Throw the dart at the teacher! Win a prize! These were the bellows chanted by booth and game workers at the Colt County Fair.

Various clubs set up game booths along the midway to raise money for their organizations.

The Literary Club had a Cookie Monster Frisbee Throw with the winners receiving a bag of cookies. Student Council rigged an early 1920's casino with betting games such as Blackjack and Roulette. The Library Club set up a Ping Pong Ball Throw, and the Orchestra had a Dart Throw. Thespians had a football throw, while Art Clubbers constructed a clay throw.

Refreshments were also sold along the CC Fair midway. AFS served several kinds of home-made ice cream, while Interact had cold drinks and popcorn available. The Spanish Club constructed a cantina treating students with various Spanish foods.

Homemaking classes sold nachos and homemade cookies and candies.

Drama Hosts Comedy at Dinner Show

"You Can't Take it With You" this year's drama department dinner theater production was presented two consecutive nights in the AHS cafeteria.

Mrs. Lila Menteer directed the play, while Alan Scarborough took the role as student director. Jim Rowell was chosen for the part of the grandpa. His daughter, Penelope Sycamore, was played by Elizabeth Mahaffey. Her husband, Paul, was portrayed by Ed Nicholas. Penelope's daughter was played by Suzy York, and the part of her husband, Ed, was taken by Jerry Hill. The other daughter, Alice, was played by Leslie Hudson. Alice was in love with high class business tycoon, Tony Kirby, played by John Boomer.

Other characters in the cast were Rheba, played by Mary Blinn; Mr. DePinna, Paul Cobb; Donald, James Medford; Mr. Kirby, Andy Barter; Mrs. Kirby, Andrea Nelson; Henderson, Dana Mullen; Olga, Leesa Carney; G.I. Men, Steve Morris, Charlie Dark, and James Dark; Kolenkov, Kyle Henderson; and Gay Wellington, Gina Marwood.

Children's Theater Produces Pinocchio

February provided a variety of events at AHS. The first activity of the month was the District 10 and 11 FBLA convention at Arlington High School.

A Valentine dance was held on February 9 when classes rivaled for their representatives to win the title of Mr. and Miss AHS Sweetheart. Sophomores won with competitors Lisa Kever and David Harry. On February 14 Student Council delivered carnations from secret admirers.

The final attraction during February was Drama's production of Pinocchio at the Children's Theater.

Fifties Highlight Heritage

Nostalgia permeated the halls of AHS during the Student Council sponsored American Heritage Week.

Each day had a different theme with an assembly winding up the week of activities.

Monday was Gold Nugget Day; a pot of gold was hidden in the school with a money prize for the finder.

Tuesday was Nostalgia Day when students dressed as various people from the past.

Wednesday was Fifties' Day, and Thursday students dressed up for Sixties' Day.

Traditional Western Day was held on Friday. An assembly was held in the gym which included contests such as root beer guzzling, jalapeno and tamale eating, best dressed, and beard growing.

The final attraction for the week was the senior class-sponsored kicker dance. The attire for the dance was western, and the country band "Bootleg" performed. Featured members of the band were Jim Turner as lead vocalist, Travis Hammet on base guitar, Katy Gaby on the fiddle, Roger Redden on rhythm guitar, and Jay Hardy on the drums.

Ladies Make First Move

TWIRP is the acronym which is formed from the words "The Woman is Requested To Pay." Twirp Week is the annual week which lets the females take the initiative and ask out the males. The traditional week began Friday, March 23, and came to a finale on Saturday, March 31. This gave the girls two week-ends to express their preferences among the men. Student Council sponsored a Spring dance on the first Friday. Liquid Blue furnished the music for the dance. In order to ask out a male, the female first had to purchase a 25¢ Twirp License. If she was caught without a license, she was summoned to pay penance for her misdeed at the Twirp Assembly.

On Tuesday, March 27, Powder Puff Football began. The juniors took on the sophomores and the winner, the sophs, played the seniors on Friday. With a score of 12 to 6, the sophomores emerged victorious and took the 1979 Powder Puff Football Championship.

The assembly, where the Twirp offenders were punished, completed the week on the final Friday. Sentences included the carrot, the worm, and the Carmamel onion races. Senior boys posed as the jury.

Cheerleader tryouts for the 1979-80 school year were also held during March. After trying out before a panel of judges, candidates displayed their talents for the student body. Yellmen elected were Rudy Reyes, Scott Houghton, Mark Allen, Terry Murphree, and John Beall. Girls chosen included Kathy Reamer, Lisa Cawthron, Debbie Archer, Jana Ramsey and Deanna Foster.

During the spring, students competed in a variety of contests.

Several AHS students attended the University Interscholastic League Contests at Haltom City. Those receiving recognition in the literary contests were Vicki Hart and Leslie Kelso in ready writing, Doug Moore, Marcus Erickson, and Britt Brookshire in number sense, Debbie Seward and Lisa Kever in typing, Marianne Durning in shorthand, Sharon Hughes in spelling, Carmen Hill and John Hulme in feature writing, John Hulme in editorials, and John Boomer in persuasive speaking.

American Field Service Week was designed to raise money to bring foreign students to Arlington High School. Throughout the course of the week homerooms competed in a friendship link contest. The winning homerooms, Mrs. Bea Falvo and Mrs. C. Williams, received a steak dinner at York Steak House.

Prom Climaxes '79 Senior School Year

The theme "Reflections" seemed appropriate for the '79 Senior Prom as students looked back on the memories of high school as presented in the Senior Slide Show. The theme was based on a poem written by Juli Baker.

Seniors danced in a light blue, peach, and yellow ballroom to music played by Savvy. The class song for the prom was the theme from "Mahogany". Couples had souvenir pictures taken by a professional photographer.

Earlier at the Senior Banquet held in the Sheraton Dallas Hotel, students enjoyed a three-course dinner. The David Terrance Award winners were announced as Robin Foster, Marty Wieder, Jeff Lambert, Lourdes Hudson, and Jay Aldriedge. These students were the ones who contributed most to the activities of the Senior Class.

Who's Who Win Arlies

Celebrities from the world of entertainment were on hand to escort in the first annual Arlie Awards Ceremony, otherwise known as the Journalism Assembly. M.C.'s Jerry Hill and Marty Wieder announced the stars who presented "Arlies" to those with the best performances in different subject areas.

Among the celebrities present were Linda Ronstadt and Jerry Brown, Dolly Parton and Dennis Weaver, and a simultaneous appearance made by Superman and Clark Kent.

Carol Burnett with her comedienne cohort Phyllis Diller announced class favorites. Todd and Lisa, the ever popular duo from Saturday Night Live announced Mr. and Miss AHS as Dave Joeckel and Reecanne Washington. The directors of the Academy announced staffs for next year's publications.

The finale of the awards presentation was the announcement by Charlie's Angels of the Colt Corral dedicatee, Mrs. Natalee Parr.

Candidates State Goals

During the season of spring as the year began to wind to a close, students became anxious for the carefree times of summer. To prepare for this approaching season, music students began to show the skills they had learned. Spring concerts were performed by all AHS musical classes; choir, band, stage band, and orchestra.

To prepare for the 1980 school year, the student body elected officers. Those chosen to serve as leaders of the Student Council were Laura Field, president; Gayle Guesner, vice president; Holly Robinson, secretary; and Kathy Ziegler, treasurer. Senior class officers elected were Robert Schrickel, president; Sharon Valentine, vice president; Lisa Beeching, secretary-treasurer; Michelle Menge, girls' social chairman; and Kenneth Lane, boys' social chairman. Junior class officers elected were Holly McKissick, president; Lisa Kever, vice president; Belinda Gallehugh, secretary-treasurer; Kim McReynolds, girls' social chairman; and Bruce Rhone, boys' social chairman.

Park Hosts '79 Seniors

Throughout their entire senior year, students looked forward to the final days of fun. The Senior picnic was just one day of amusement out of the final weeks of the senior year.

After being dismissed from Vespers rehearsal, students jumped into their cars and headed for Barrbrook Park.

Swimming and sunbathing were just two of the pastimes seniors enjoyed at the park. They also picnicked and played games. Though threatening rain, the day provided much enjoyment for the seniors.

Seniors Gain Recognition

The Senior Awards Assembly was a time for the hard work and determination of the seniors to be recognized.

Robin Foster and Yajalene Ross opened the program with the pledge of allegiance and prayer. Choralier officers then sang the senior theme song "Mahogany."

The first group of awards were presented by groups from the Arlington community. Following these awards were the athletic and academic honors. Mr. Wendell Lackey presented the top ten from the class of '79. Mrs. Flo Francis completed the list of awards by announcing the winners of the traditional Fielder Award.

The senior slide show was shown to a background of popular music. To conclude the program, Woody Cash led the seniors in the singing of the Alma Mater.

'79 Vespers Service Inspires Audience

Vespers, an inspirational service, was held the Sunday before graduation. Seniors processed into Texas Hall to the music of the Colt Concert and Symphonic Bands.

Martha Postlethwaite and Clint Bullard opened the service by singing the duet, "Do You Know Where You're Going To?" Mr. Randy Porter presented the invocation and the affirmation of the theme "Reflections." Following the invocation, speakers chosen by the class presented their thoughts on high school and the future. Robin Foster, Susie Reeves, Marty Wieder, Dave Joeckel, Reecanne Washington, and Jeff Lambert were those selected by the seniors. From the faculty Miss Lissa Mooneyham, Mr. Barry Wilmoth, and Mr. Randy Porter spoke.

"Let All the Nations Praise the Lord" was sung by the choral department and the band played "Old Scottish Melody." To conclude the service, Reecanne Washington gave the benediction and seniors marched down the aisle to the playing of the bands.

Commencement Ceremony Reflects Year

With graduation came the final realization of the finale of 12 years of education.

After AFS exchange student, Pierre Jeanray, played the piano prelude, Paul Courtney read the invocation. Senior Class president Reecanne Washington recognized the administration and special guests. Speeches were made by selected honor graduates. Salutatorian Bill Pribyl gave a speech entitled "Appoggiatura." Elizabeth Rollins, an honor graduate, presented a speech on the crossroads of life. Another honor graduate, Laura McKaig, talked about the theme "Reflections." Doug Moore concluded the speeches by presenting the valedictory address, "Reflections in a Funhouse Mirror."

Pam Childers led the audience in the singing of the Alma Mater. Mr. Crouch congratulated seniors as he handed them their diplomas. Announcers for the occasion were Mr. Mike Stovall, Mr. Ben Bailey, Mrs. Cassandra Williams, and Roger Reynolds.

The Colt Choraliers added "When You've Gone Away" to their traditional graduation song "You'll Never Walk Alone." Chris Wade concluded the 1979 commencement with the benediction.

Reecanne, Jeff Win '79 Fielder Award

The Fielder Award, given to AHS's most outstanding senior girl and boy, is the school's most prestigious honor.

Presented since 1932, the award is given to those students who exhibit excellence in every phase of school life. This year's winners were Reecanne Washington and Jeff Lambert.

Reecanne created balance between sports and student government during her years at AHS. This year Reecanne led the senior class as president. In her junior year she was vice president of her class. She played basketball for three years and won the "Most Improved" and "Hustle Award" on the JV team. This year she was named "Defensive Player of the Year."

Also chosen as an Athenian of the Month, Reecanne was a member of NHS, the Spanish Club, and Future Business Leaders of America.

Leading the school as the president of the Student Council was Jeff who was also a senior class representative. He was president of the junior class and boys social chairman in his sophomore year. Jeff was active in both the French Club, the Key Club, and NHS.

Jeff was chosen as a Rotarian of the Month and attended American Legion Boys State.

Jeff Lambert and Reecanne Washington place the Fielder Award plaque back in the counseling office after signing.

Six Qualify As National Merit Scholars

Early in the fall six seniors were announced as this year's semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Britt Brookshire, Scott Camp, John Hulme, Doug Moore, Bill Pribyl, and Reed Walker were entered in the Merit program by taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Qualifying Test (PSAT/MNSQT).

The semifinalists were the highest scoring students in each state, representing the top half of one percent of the nation's academically talented high school students.

Over one million students entered the program and about 15,000 qualified as semifinalists.

In the spring came the news that all six had been named National Merit Scholars and four of them received scholarships from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Britt was girls social chairman for the National Honor Society and active in French Club. Last year she was the Literary Club's treasurer. Scott played basketball and was a member of both the NHS and the German Club.

Doug has been an active member of the Spanish Club.

He became a member of NHS and was valedictorian of his class. Reed was a member of the German Club, the Library Club, the American Field Service, and participated in ROTC.

Playing the piano with the stage band was one of Bill's many interests. He also was president of the NHS and an active member of the French Club.

John Hulme was editor of The Colt and a member of NHS, Quill and Scroll, and The German Club. He received a scholarship from TXI and was named Who's Who in Journalism.

1979 National Merit Scholars include Bill Pribyl, Reed Walker, Scott Camp, Britt Brookshire, John Hulme, and Doug Moore.

Committee Picks Nine Senior Girls

Nine girls were chosen by a faculty committee to serve as Girls of the Month for the Athenians.

Among the girls chosen were Laura McKaig and Elizabeth Rollins who were very active in choir activities. Another honoree was Debbie Harry who served as choir accompanist.

Serving the student body through Student Council were Robin Foster and Susie Reeves. Robin was the vice president, while Susie was secretary.

From the journalism department came Loretta Cooper and Juli Baker. Loretta had the busy job of yearbook editor. Juli was in charge of the honors section of the annual.

Britt Brookshire served as girls social chairman for the National Honor Society. Reecanne Washington was senior class president.

The girls were given a dinner in their honor. At the Senior Assembly, Julie Baker was recognized as Girl of the Year and received a $100 savings bond.

Arlington Rotary Club Hosts 9 Seniors

Citizenship, leadership, and character earned nine seniors the title of Rotarian of the Month. Each honoree was recognized in the newspaper and attended noon meetings of the Arlington Rotary Club.

Selected in September was Dave Joeckel, a captain on the varsity football team and a sports writer for The Colt. Named Mr. AHS at the annual journalism assembly, Dave was also a member of the Key Club and Quill and Scroll.

Rotarian James Preiss was an

All-District and All-City center on the football team. Alan Greer, a member of Younglife, the varsity baseball and basketball teams, and Senior Council, was also recognized.

Dwain Brown captained the varsity football team and participated in the Spanish and Key Clubs. Jeff Lambert served as president of the Student Council, was a member of the National Honor Society and the French Club. Senior Class Treasurer Chris Wade played on the baseball team and participated in the National Honor Society and the Spanish Club.

Also honored was Jay Aldreidge, a yellman for the Colts his senior year, a member of the Art Club, and a winner of the Tarrance Award. ROTC officer Eric Janovsky was a member of the German Club, National Honor Society, and Junior Engineering Technical Society.

Rotarian Tracy Byers was a yellman his senior year and a member of the National Honor Society.

Homecoming Rally Reveals Honorees

After an exciting week of floatbuilding, pep rally planning, and voting, Friday finally arrived. Dates had been decided on, and nominees for Homecoming Queen and King were waiting for the halftime at the football game.

During the pep rally, Mr. and Miss Spirit were announced as Kerry Hackenberg and Debbie Richmond.

Other honors announced included Junior Princess Barbara Doyle and Sophomore Princess Sandy Buckner, who became part of the royal court.

Dream Comes True for Tammy, Baylor

As the excitement of preparing for Homecoming grew, eight AHS seniors were honored by being nominated for the privilege of reigning over the 1978 Homecoming court.

The senior class nominated the eight seniors, and later the entire student body elected a King and Queen. The nominees were presented at the pep rally and rode in the parade.

Senior girls chosen as candidates for 1978 Homecoming Queen included Janet Wilson, Susie Reeves, D'Lynn Hollowell, and Tammy Kirkpatrick.

Among those nominated for King were Seniors Jay Aldridge, Kevin Webb, Jeff Lambert, and Baylor Brown.

At the climax of halftime activities, Baylor and Tammy were selected as 1978 Homecoming King and Queen. Tammy was then presented with the traditional bouquet of red roses and received a kiss from Baylor.

Baylor is a member of the football team and leads the Colts during games as first string quarterback.

Tammy has been a varsity cheerleader for the past three years at AHS, encouraging spirit at pep rallies and games. She is also involved in Young Life and enjoys skiing, cooking, and swimming.

Exchange Students Find Second Home

Two foreign exchange students, Pierre JeanRay, sponsored by AFS, and Peter Driesen, sponsored by Youth for Understanding experienced the American way of life for the school year.

Although both came from Belgium, Pierre lives in the French-speaking southern part. Peter, however, lives in the northern part and speaks French.

Host families of Pierre and Peter were the family of junior John Pingle, and the family of sophomore Susan Mullanax.

Both Pierre and Peter attended boys' schools in Belgium, so AHS was a new experience for them. Also, Pierre was able to visit a real "dude" ranch upon his arrival in Texas.

Community Clubs Recognize Seniors

Arlington Civic clubs chose eleven seniors this year to honor. Kiwanis Club members hosted nine seniors at weekly luncheons for one month, while the Womens Division of the Chamber of Commerce honored two senior girls.

Nine seniors were chosen by the Kiwanis Club to host each month. The selections of the seniors were based on their academic record, extra curricular activities, and their character traits.

John Hawrylak was a member of both Student and Senior Councils and was captain of the football team.

Being secretary of Interact and a member of Student and Senior Councils took up much time of Susie Reeves. She was also a member of FBLA and NHS.

Bryan Williamson has participated in soccer, track, and football. Other than sports, Bryan was active in German Club.

Robin Foster served Student Council as vice president and was a member of FBLA and NHS.

Roger Reynolds participated in both Senior and Student Councils and was a member of the varsity basketball team.

Mandy Mullins served as a member of both Student and Senior Councils, and as president of the Latin Club.

Ali Haji-Shiekh was chosen as All-City, District, and County kicker. Along with sports, he also participated in Student Council.

Nancy Adams was a member of the Spanish Club, NHS, Senior Council, and was a cheerleader. John Hulme served as editor of The Colt, was an honor member of Quill and Scroll, and was a member of NHS and German Club. He also was a National Merit Scholarship winner.

Selected by the Chamber of Commerce to represent AHS were Carol Miller and Debbie Beebe.

Carol was active in the band for three years and served as drum major this year. Debbie was on both the newspaper and yearbook staffs and was an honor member of Quill and Scroll national journalism honor society.

Runner-up Colts Finish Season at 8-2

Second place was what the Colts had to settle for in 1978 as they finished 8-2 for the year and 5-1 in district, with the only losses coming from undefeated teams.

The Colts opened against Arlington Heights. AHS ran the ball up and down the field in rolling up 563 yards of offense. But turnovers hurt the Colts as they only managed seven points. AHS almost blew a 20-0 lead over Eastern Hills before finally winning 27-24. Ali Haji-Sheikh kicked a city record 55-yard field goal.

Tracy Taylor sparked a 28-0 win over Irving Nimitz with 44 yards rushing. James McKelvain caught a blocked punt and ran it in for a TD as the defense held Nimitz scoreless. The following week the Mean Green played maybe its finest game of the season beating Lewisville 31-14. Baylor Brown ran a flawless option games. The Farmers being undefeated in District play lost their first game against the Colts.

Colts' Rally Falls Short Against Lamar

The Colts opened up district play in Birdville Stadium against Richland. AHS conquered an injury-riddled Rebel team 28-12 with an awesome running attack keyed by quarterback Baylor Brown. The defense kept the Rebel rushing game in check as they allowed only an early touchdown and another tally late in the fourth quarter.

Crosstown rival Sam Houston provided the Colts' next competition, and AHS responded with a 7-0 shutout of the Texans. Bryan Williamson scored on the Colts' first possession on a 22-yard flanker reverse. The defense held Sam in check the entire game and then turned back a last-ditch rally in the final seconds of the game.

The next week, Arlington played Lamar for what would decide the district championship. Lamar dominated the game through the first two and a half quarters, stretching a 10-0 half-time lead into 17-0 by the beginning of the third. Then, the Colts recovered a Viking fumble and proceeded to march 94 yards for a touchdown. AHS got the ball back and marched 68 yards for another TD. The try for two failed and with it the Colts' hopes.

17 Players Make District

Haltom was caught looking on the opening kickoff as Bryan Williamson took a reverse handoff and went 93 yards for a touchdown. James McKelvain and Chuck Alexander each picked off two passes and the Colt defense turned in a sterling effort in limiting the Buffs' All-State running back Tim Sanders to 130 yards in the 21-7 win.

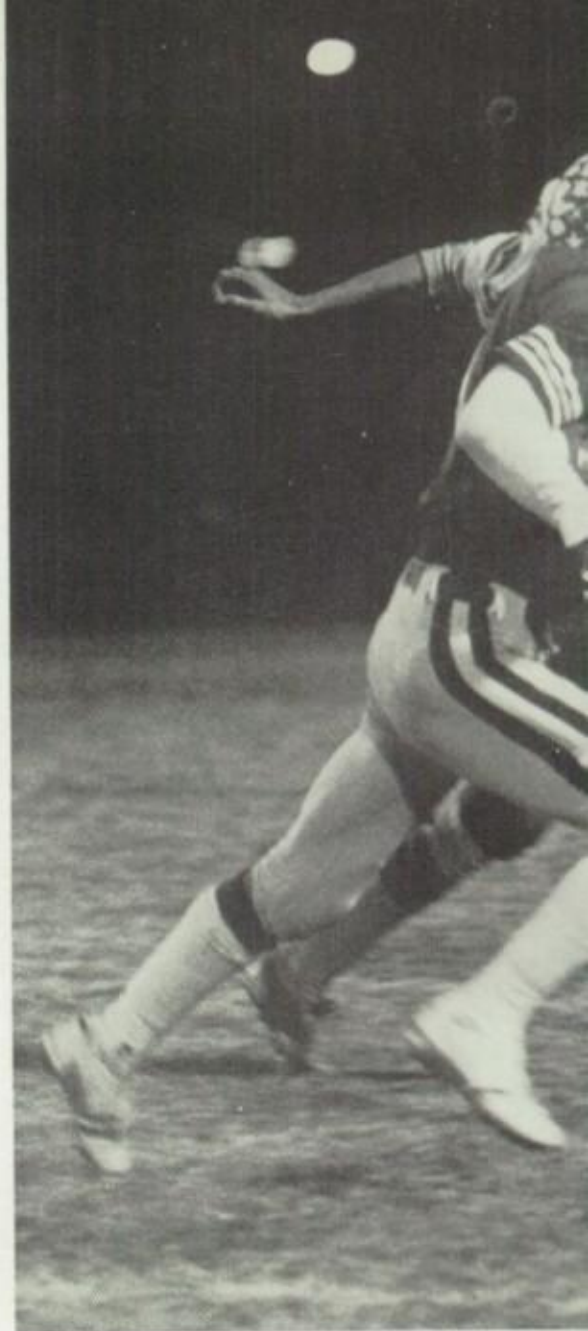

The next week the Colts topped Bowie by the identical score of 21-7. Baylor Brown directed the Colt offense on cross country scoring marches and the defense held Bowie's sputtering offense in check.

After a week off, the Colts closed out the season on a high note with a 41-0 thrashing of Burleson.

Arlington placed 17 people on the All-District squad including 11 on the first team. Offensive players named were Dwain Brown, Dave Joeckel, James Preiss, Baylor Brown, Tracy Taylor, Bryan Williamson, and Ali Haji-Sheikh. Defensively the Colts placed Barry Kennemer, Robert McCallum, David Patterson, and Chuck Alexander.

JV Football Struggles Through Season

Members of the junior varsity football team finished the 1978 season with a disappointing 4-5-1. Defense was the Ponies' strong point, but the offense was inconsistent.

In the season opener against Arlington Heights, mistakes and a poor offensive showing plagued AHS as the Yellow Jackets prevailed 19-0. The following week against Eastern Hills, the two defensively oriented teams played to a 7-7 stand-off.

A fine defensive showing went for naught against Irving Nimitz as the offense failed to score and Nimitz won 13-0. Jerry DaVault and David Gafford led the hard-hitting Pony defense. In their final game before district play, the Ponies beat Lewisville 15-0 for their first victory of the year.

In the district opener, AHS capitalized on two second-half Richland mistakes to win their second consecutive game 14-13.

After a disappointing loss to Sam Houston, the Ponies were crunched by the eventual champions Lamar, 39-7.

The Colts evened their district ledger against Haltom's Buffs, winning 19-18 as Lee Manly scored two touchdowns. The Ponies lost their chance for a winning season in a 28-7 trouncing by Bowie, and then closed out the season with a 6-0 shutout of Burleson.

Girls Take 2nd in District

Arlington High School's 1978 volleyball team was literally destroyed by graduation and injuries, but the Colt squad was rebuilt by Coach Lynda Bradham and Coach Joni McCoy and finished with a respectable second-place finish in district.

The Colts finished with 28 wins against only seven losses, with all but one of its losses coming against playoff teams. AHS's district record was 9-3, placing the Colts behind bi-district champion Sam Houston.

First on Arlington's schedule were three tough away games with the Colts winning one and losing two. The spikers defeated Abilene Cooper before falling to Snyder and Richardson Pearce.

In other non-district matchups, the Colts had a much easier time defeating Castleberry, Duncanville, Irving Nimitz, Everman, and Cleburne.

AHS' most successful ventures were in tournament play, as the Colt spikers placed first in the Birdville Tournament, second in the Duncanville Tourney, and third in the Arlington Tournament.

District started on a sour note with the Colts losing its opener to Sam Houston. Arlington had a much easier time with Burleson, winning 15-1, 15-5.

The Colts then won the remaining four games in the first half of district defeating Richland, Haltom, Bowie, and Lamar. Arlington's first-half record rested at 5-1.

Second half of district play started in the same way, with Sam finishing on top of the Colts in the opening game. Arlington then crushed the Burleson Elks, before being outlasted by Richland 15-1, 15-17, 4-15.

Arlington ended its season with three victories, defeating Haltom and Bowie, before gaining a dramatic victory over its cross-town opponent, the Lamar Vikings, to gain second place honors.

Highlight of the '78 season was the Birdville Tourney with the Colts taking the championship trophy out of the 16-teams. Arlington's season tournament record was 10 wins and 2 losses.

Varsity Successful in Tournament Play

Although the volleyball team was picked as low as fifth in district, the Colts rose to the occasion and fought all year to remain a contender for the district crown until the end of the season.

The Colts finished in second place behind the best team Sam Houston has ever fielded, and ahead of strong Lamar and Richland squads.

AHS' tournament play was respected around the league as the Colts finished in first, second and third in the only tournaments they competed in during the season.

In the Arlington tourney, hosted jointly by Bowie and Sam Houston, the Colts finished third out of the 16-team field. All-tournament honors went to Debbie Whitfield, Jennifer Maginnis, and Kelley Viner. In the Duncanville tourney, AHS finished in second place. Kelley was chosen as best setter, Debbie as outstanding defensive performer, and Jennifer and Susan McDonald as All-Tournament.

The Colts finished in first place in the 16-team Birdville Tournament, by downing Plano, Southwest, Trinity, and Richland.

Sophs Comprise JV Team

Built on a group of solid sophomores, the junior varsity volleyball team finished the year with a third place in district play and a 19-13 district record.

The Colts' first big venture was to the Irving JV Tournament, with Arlington splitting four games for a fourth place finish. Other pre-district action saw the Colts go 3-3 with victories over Duncanville, Everman, and Cleburne.

AHS competed in the Carrollton Turner Sophomore Tournament, but failed to place, as the team won one out of three games. AHS hosted the district JV tournament and won the consolation trophy, defeating Bowie and Lamar after losing to Haltom in first round action.

Richardson Pearce JV Tournament was next on the Colts' agenda, with AHS finishing in third place in the 16-team tournament.

The JV squad proved to be one of the toughest teams in district play, as Lamar was the only team to top the Colts twice in district.

In first half competition, AHS downed Sam Houston in the opener 15-12, 15-12, and then trounced Burleson 15-3, 15-5. Against Richland, the Colts tasted defeat for the first time in district play, as the Rebels won 15-12, 6-15, 14-10.

After the Richland game, Arlington gained victories in games against Haltom and Bowie, before losing to Lamar in the last game of the first half to finish 4-2.

In the opener of second half play, Arlington lost to Sam Houston, but rolled off four straight victories, as they defeated Burleson, Richland, Haltom and Bowie.

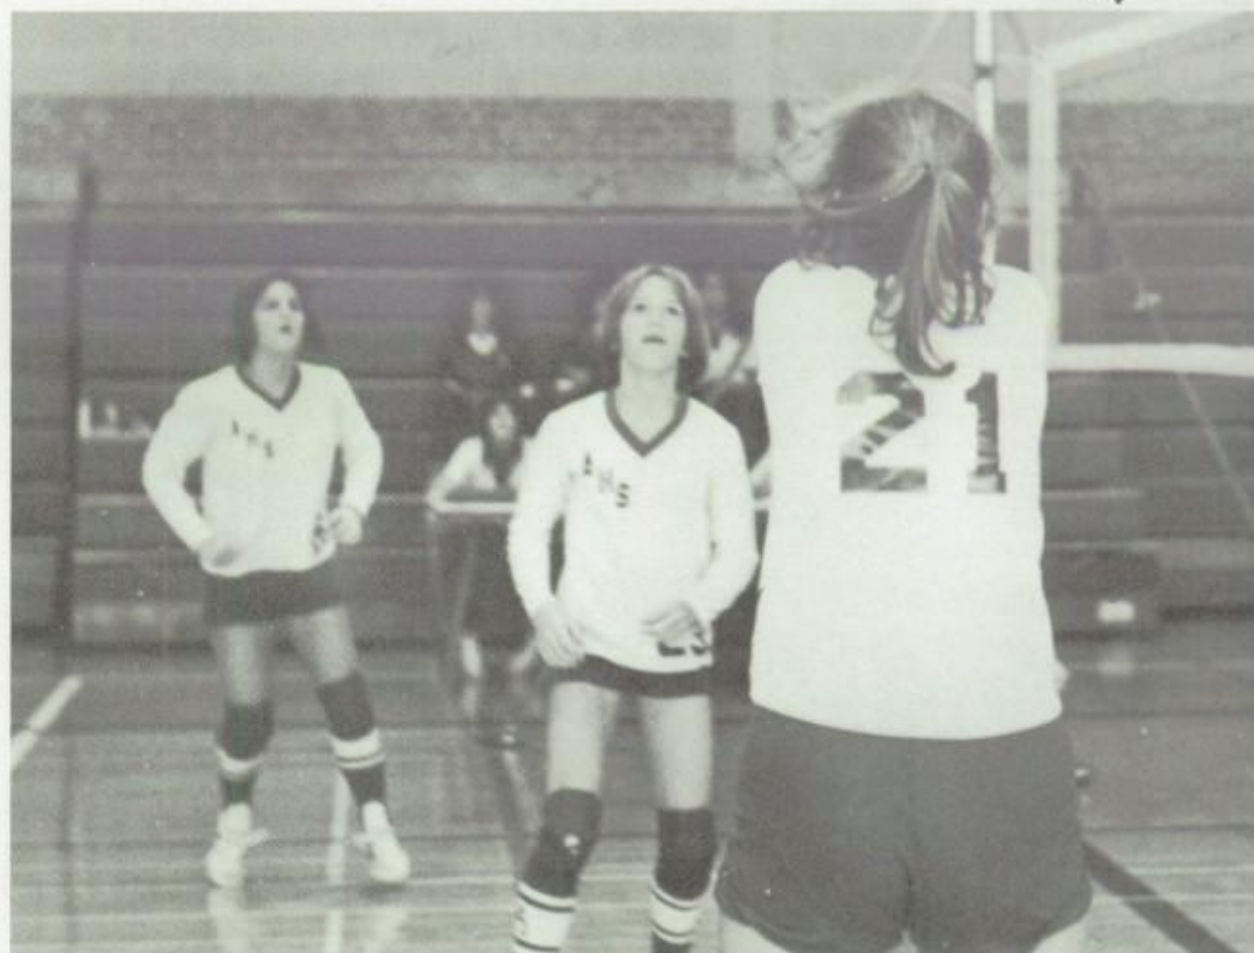

Arlington played the Lamar Vikings in the last game with a chance to tie for the second half title. The Colts played a hard fought match before losing to Lamar in the third game. The Colts finished third in district with an 8-4 record.

CC Team Captures Title

Cross country, a two-mile trek over hilly terrain, is considered both an individual and team sport, and although the team attained several laurels, the highlight of the year was a third-place finish in the state meet by Junior John Sauerhage.

Arlington competed in 10 meets as a team, four each at Vandergriff Park in Arlington and Norbuck Park in Dallas. Runs were also held on the Country Day School campus and the Texas Christian University campus.

Highlight for the cross country team was winning the district championship, as the Colts placed five in the top 11. Sauerhage won the individual title with a 9:56 and was followed by Paul Carey (5th), Jimmy Schroeder (7th), Bart Thompson (9th), and Mike Latham (11th).

The regional meet was a let-down for the high spirited Colts, as they failed to qualify for state competition as a team. Sauerhage easily qualified for the meet, as he won the region title with a 10:05.

Under the pressures of strong winds and fierce statewide competitions, Sauerhage still finished in third place with a 10:00. His finish earned him a bronze medal and All-American recognition for the second year in a row.

Coach Gerald Richey guided the cross country team.

Girls CC Takes District

Equality is the name of the game in cross country, and the girls found that they had to run the grueling two miles just like the boys team. Wow! You've come a long way baby!

The girls had a successful season, winning two meets including the District 8-AAAA championship. Varsity was composed of five graduating seniors, two juniors, and one sophomore.

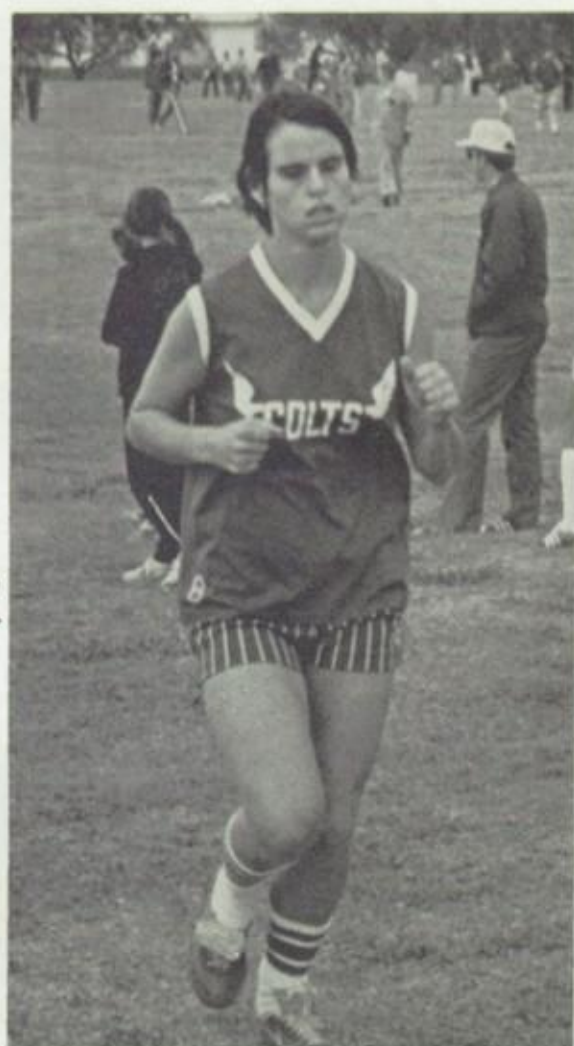

The district meet was held at Vandergriff Park with the Colts easily winning with a total of 20 points. Top Colt finisher was Carrie Bird, who ran a 13:33 for second place.

Sarah Maginnis finished third, and was followed by Denise Seal, Bridget Thomas, and Mary Ann Schneider, who placed fourth, fifth, and sixth.

Also completing the two-mile trek were Gretchen Schimelpfenig (12th) and Kristen Johnson (13th).

Regional proved to be much tougher, and the Colts finished out of the running for a qualifying position. Carrie once again was the top finisher, as she took 23rd with a 13:22.

Roundballers Struggle Through Season

Coach Dale Archer's 1978-79 varsity basketball team opened with high hopes of gaining its third consecutive district title. Arlington, Sam Houston, Haltom, and Richland were all given shots at the league crown by area sportswriters. But, the Colts were plagued by inconsistency and closed the district season at 7-5.

Arlington had to get good performances from veteran postmen Earnest Williams and Milton Michener, but injuries caused both to be sidelined for a good portion of the season, preventing a strong run at the title.

Pre-district action saw AHS play some of the top teams in the state with the likes of South Grand Prairie, Houston Wheatley, and Plano. The Colts came out of that at .500.

Arlington got off to a slow start in league action as they were drubbed by Haltom 43-31. A little hot streak in the middle of district play went for naught when the Colts lost a big showdown with Richland and went on to finish district with a record of 7-5.

Team Plays Tough Slate

Varsity basketball team members opened up their rugged non-district schedule against South Grand Prairie. The Colts blew a slim halftime lead and lost in the fourth quarter 59-52.

After going 5-2 in the next seven games, which included victories over Grand Prairie, Duncanville, Nolan, and two over R. L. Turner, the Colts went up against highly touted Houston Wheatley and were soundly beaten.

After a close game with Denton, the Colts rebounded to post their second win over Duncanville 58-53. Next came two tough losses to Plano and Dallas Woodrow Wilson, followed by a victory over a tough I. D. Bell team.

Following two more losses, AHS closed out the pre-district season by registering victories over Cleburne 60-47 and Irving 52-49.

Basketball Closes at 7-5 Mark

Opening district action, the Colts found themselves without their top scorer and rebounder Earnest Williams, who was sidelined with a leg injury. AHS' offense was punchless and could only manage 31 points in 32 minutes.

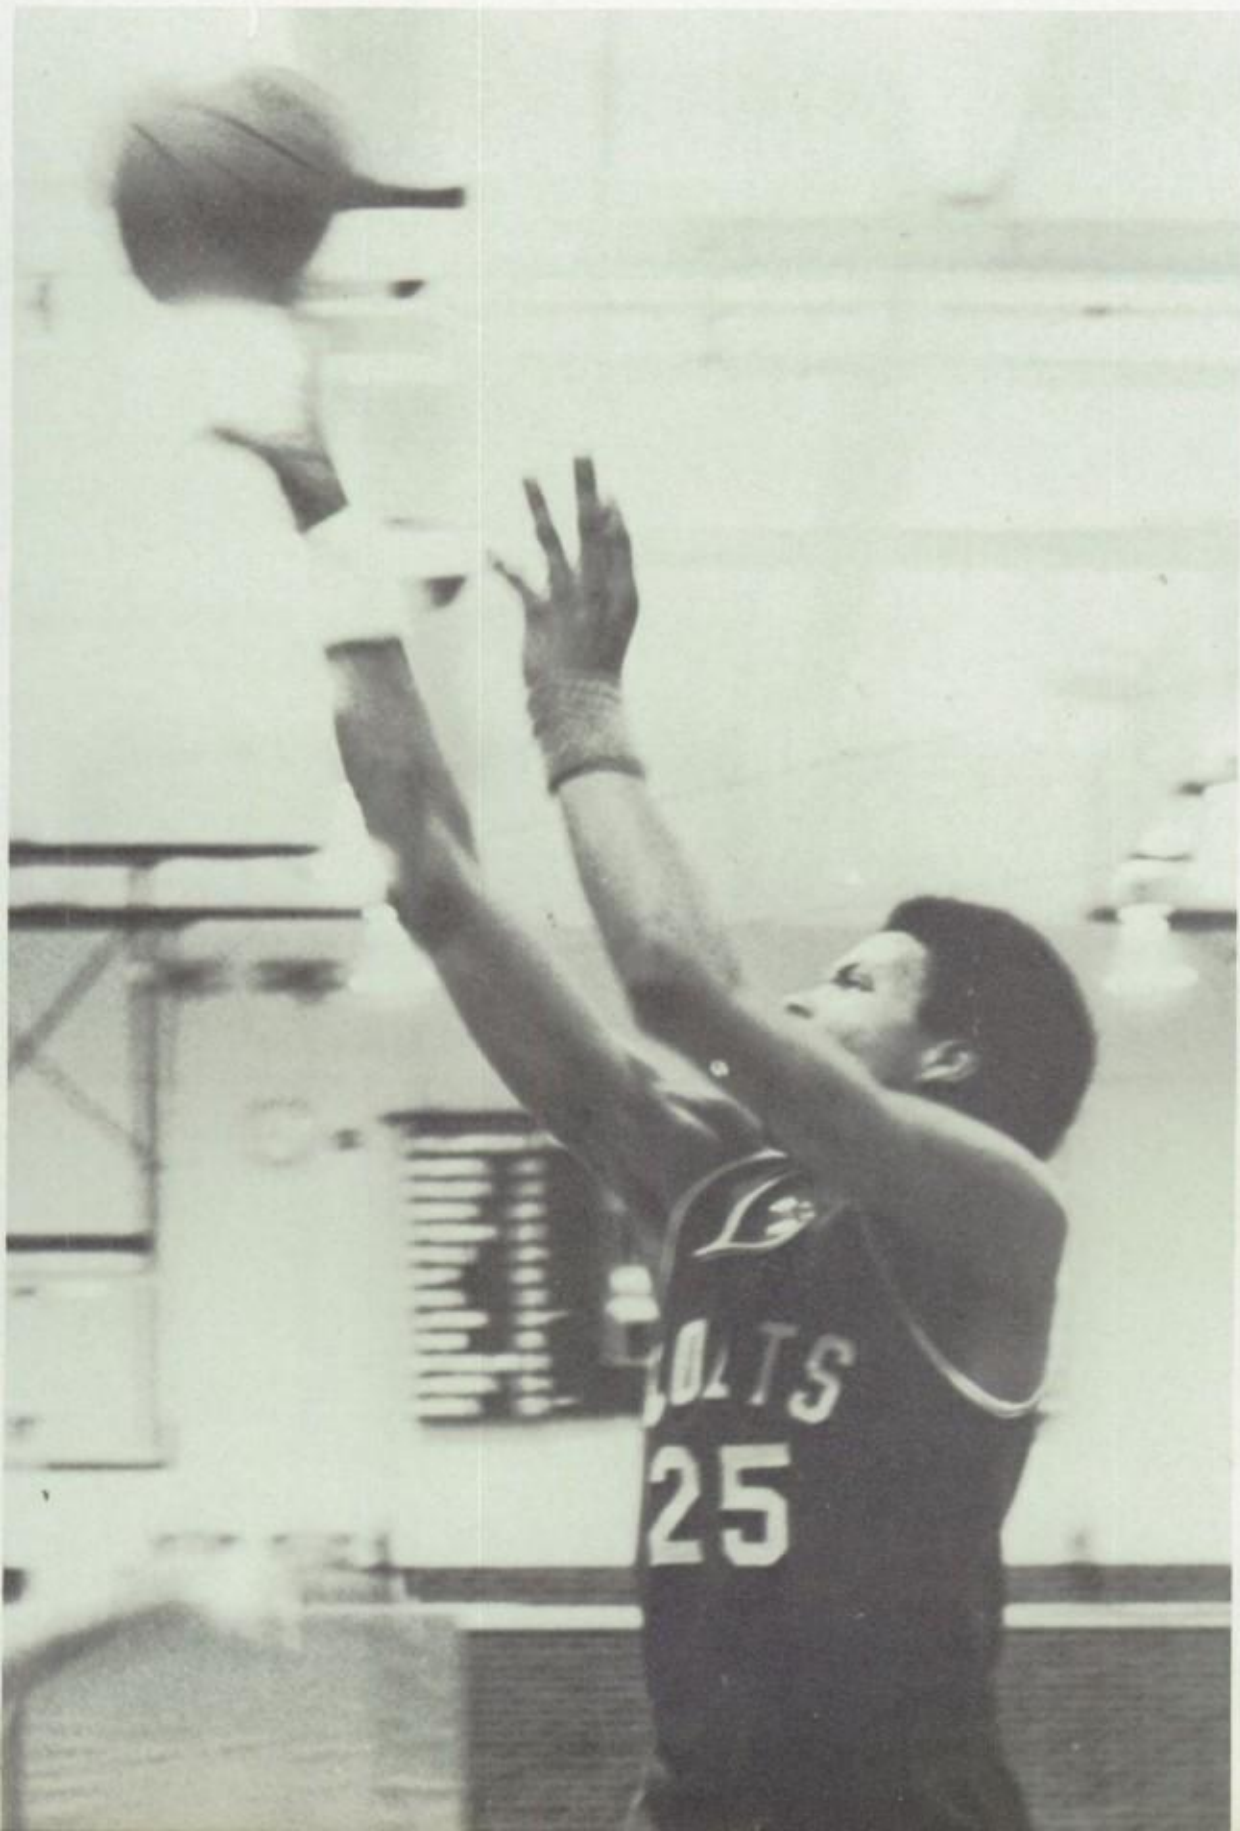

AHS nipped Burleson by two, 58-56, but then had to play league-leading Richland without Williams or Milt Michener, the Colts' two senior starting postmen. The Rebels trampled a defenseless Colt team by 20.

After a close loss to Bowie, Williams returned to the lineup to score 32 points and lead AHS past arch rival Sam Houston 52-40. With Williams, Michener, Casey Kanel, and Mike Sauerhage leading the way, the Colts then won their next three games over Lamar, Haltom, and Burleson bringing them to their second big showdown with Richland.

Arlington led throughout the game and at the end of the third quarter had a comfortable seven-point lead, but Richland exploded for 30 points in the final frame and pulled away to win 67-58.

After a week off, the Colts recovered to gain revenge on Bowie by a 61-56 count. Sam Houston then overcame a half-time deficit to nip AHS at the close 57-54. The Colts closed out the district by beating Lamar 58-52 to post a record of 7-5.

New Coach Leads JV to District Title

New coach Danny Husband opened his career at Arlington High School in fine fashion as his junior varsity basketball team breezed through district competition to capture the league title with a 9-1 record.

In non-district battle, the Colts posted a fine 16-4 ledger. After going 4-2 in their first six games, the Ponies exploded into the Lamar Tourney and won the championship game over Irving MacArthur 63-56. The tournament also saw Arlington avenge an earlier loss to the Grand Prairie junior varsity by a score of 61-43.

After a disappointing loss to Plano, the Colts rebounded to win the Arlington Classic. AHS then finished preparation for the district campaign winning five out of their six games.

Arlington opened up district play with authority, beating Haltom 61-52 behind Mark Bishop's 17 points. The Colts then proceeded to mow down their next five opponents to finish the first half of district play at 6-0. Sam Houston was the only team to give the Colts any trouble as AHS rallied from a seven-point halftime deficit to win 66-62.

The second half of district play opened up just like the first with Arlington posting victories over Haltom, Burleson, Richland, and Bowie.

Sam Houston then handed the Colts their only loss in district action, breaking open a close game in the third quarter and winning by a score of 63-54. The Colts then wrapped up the district championship with a big victory over Lamar.

Girls Switch to 5 Players

After a disappointing pre-season and first half, Coach Judy Stricklin's 78-79 girls' varsity basketball team pulled together to place second in district. Seven seniors from last year, four juniors, and two sophomores comprised the squad.

Although the change to five players was accomplished with relative ease, there were still problems evident as the Colts got off to a slow start by losing their first three games to Midland, Midland Lee, and Duncanville.

AHS then rebounded to win their first two games of the season on consecutive outings against Irving Nimitz and Cleburne. Success was short-lived, however, as the Colts were decisively beaten by highly touted South Oak Cliff. After edging Abilene Cooper and R. L. Turner, the Colts absorbed losses from Plano and Castleberry. They then rallied for the Nimitz game, beating them a second time before losing to Burleson and again to Castleberry. Two losses to Granbury and a loss to Duncanville ended a disappointing preseason schedule for the Colts. AHS posted six wins, while losing 11 times.

5 Rebound To Second

The first half of district play looked like a repeat of preseason, as they started out with three straight losses.

Burleson, Richland, and Bowie all felled the Colts on the way to a slow start. AHS was then able to turn it around against arch-rival Sam Houston with a 45-37 victory.

Following a victory over Haltom, the Colts closed out the first half of district with a 36-34 thriller against Lamar to even their record at 3-3. At the start of the second half, the Colts upset top ranked Richland 46-43, then trampled Haltom 66-25 to set their record at 2-0.

Burleson then gave the Colts their only scare in the second half in a disappointing 47-55 loss. A 56-42 win over Bowie and another over Sam Houston put AHS' record at 4-1 going into the season finale against Lamar.

In a game which featured an all senior line-up, Katy Hermann sank the tie breaking shot with eight seconds left to boost the Colts to a 44-42 victory and a second place finish in the district race.

JV Five Looks to Future

Coach Glenda Kramer's 1978-79 JV basketball team showed signs of a great future varsity squad as they used a slow starting preseason to warm up and then exploded into league play to capture the district crown.

The Colts finished at 7-8 in non-district play in which the highlights were a third place finish in the Irving Nimitz junior varsity tournament and upset of Granbury.

The first district assignment was a tough one, but AHS beat a highly touted Burleson team to post a 1-0 record. The Colts then came from behind to top Richland 41-37. JV then closed out the first half of district with a sweep of the Arlington teams, Bowie, Sam Houston, and Lamar, to finish with a clean slate, 5-0.

Second half started with another come-from-behind win over Richland. After suffering their only loss of the season against Burleson, the Colts rebounded to smash Bowie 43-25. AHS then edged arch-rival Sam Houston 43-42, and closed out the season with a 28-24 win over Lamar to capture the district title.

Soccer Takes City Crown

Coach Jim Barnette's undefeated soccer team kicked its way to a second consecutive city championship by posting a 4-0-2 record.

The junior varsity team also captured the city crown with a 5-1 mark. The Colts had no real test in non-city play as they cruised through 10 games without a loss. In city action the Colts had not only to battle opposing teams, but also brutally cold weather. They were forced to play in zero and sub-zero wind chill factor conditions.

After tying Lamar in the city opener, the Colts beat Bowie in the rain and then tied Sam Houston.

In the second half of city play AHS gained revenge over Lamar and Sam Houston by 2-0 and 5-0 scores and then overpowered Bowie 3-1.

John Freismith was named the district's most valuable player, while Kurt Rogers took the Arlington High School MVP award.

All-District players included Freismith, Rogers, Youcet Barakat, Andy Barter, David Bothe, Jody Presswood, and Ty Tibbitts. Coach Barnette was named Coach of the Year by the Arlington Daily News.

AHS Sends 4 to State

All-American divers David Lindsey and Michelle Menge were two of the four tankers to represent Arlington at the March 17 state meet in Austin.

Senior Bill Bunch and junior Susan McDonald joined the junior diving duo in the season climatic meet. David captured first place in the one-meter dive, while Michelle finished fifth in girls equivalent event. In the 200-yard individual medley, Bill came in eighth and finished fifth in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Lamar dominated the district meet for the second consecutive year. Despite their third place over-all finish, Arlington had several swimmers capture individual victories. Michelle and Christi Jacob finished first and second in the one-meter dive. David also won the boys' one-meter dive.

Susan was the first to finish the 50-yard freestyle and the 100-yard breaststroke. She also teamed with Tarrin Sullivan, Eileen Duncan, and Julie Moffat to win the medley relay. Julie took second in the 100-yard butterfly.

Bill Bunch captured all the honors for the boys' team as he placed in the 200-yard medley and grabbed a second place in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Coach Juli Warner led the regional qualifiers to TCU, and the Colts landed swimmers in six state events.

Golf Swings To Regional

Arlington's boys golf team went one step further this year as they qualified for the regional playoffs. They also look for bigger things next year as the entire team will be back.

As a team, the Colts placed second at the district meet with a point total of 303, which qualified them for the regional meet where they placed seventh with a score of 310.

Kevin Reamer and Dave Watson both went on to the state playoffs and received MVP honors.

One of the finest performances of the year was at the Arlington Heights Tournament as they finished second with a score of 297. They also made a good showing at the Western Hills tourney where the team also finished second with a score of 326.

One of the highlights of the year was a first place trophy taken home after the Joshua tourney. Other tournaments had the Colts placing seventh at Highland Park, fourth at Plano, sixth at the Arlington Tourney, nineteenth at North Texas, and a sixth place at Longview with a good score of 312.

Jeff Hiemenz was named by Coach Mike Cade as the team's MVP, the second straight year he has received that honor.

Viv, Team Take Title

Aided by Miss Judy Stricklin, the girl's golf team completed its third year of existence with a district championship and a trip to Denton for the Regional Tournament.

Fall Play began with the Denton Tourney, and the Colts finished in third place, with Viveca Vandergriff gaining first medalist honors.

Third place was also awarded to the girls at the Richland tournament, as Viveca came through with a second place finish.

In the spring, Arlington finished fourth in a Denton tournament, with Julie Oppie taking second place honors.

Julie then traveled by herself to Duncanville, and placed second in the match as an individual.

AHS won the district championship, as Viveca defeated the eventual state champion for top medalist. Julie was third medalist, while Brenda Waldrop finished ninth.

Pacing the Colts to a fifth place finish in the Regional Tourney in Denton was Julie, as she finished the two-day meet in fourth.

Team Takes 14 Matches

Members of the tennis team kept up their winning ways under two-year Coach Dillard Isabel by posting a 14-2-1 record during the fall.

Coach Isabel, who has now led AHS's tennis team to two consecutive district championships, has done an excellent job as head coach the past two years.

Singles players on the boy's team included state ranked Mark Rossi, along with Al Mitchell, Scott Slater, Paul Courtney, and Lee Derr. Doubles players were Eric Stoker, Barry Williams, Harry Baker, and Ben Bowers.

Singles players for the girls team were Lynn Perkins, Mary Riley, Nancy Devlin, and Allison Jones. Lesa Odom, Marla Stoker, Lisa Male, Lisa McCallum, Linda Williams, and Mary Roland made up the doubles players.

AHS had a great fall season with easy wins over crosstown rivals Lamar and Sam Houston, and a hard fought victory over highly touted Highland Park. Only losses came at the hands of Irving MacArthur and L. D. Bell. They also had a tie with Southwest.

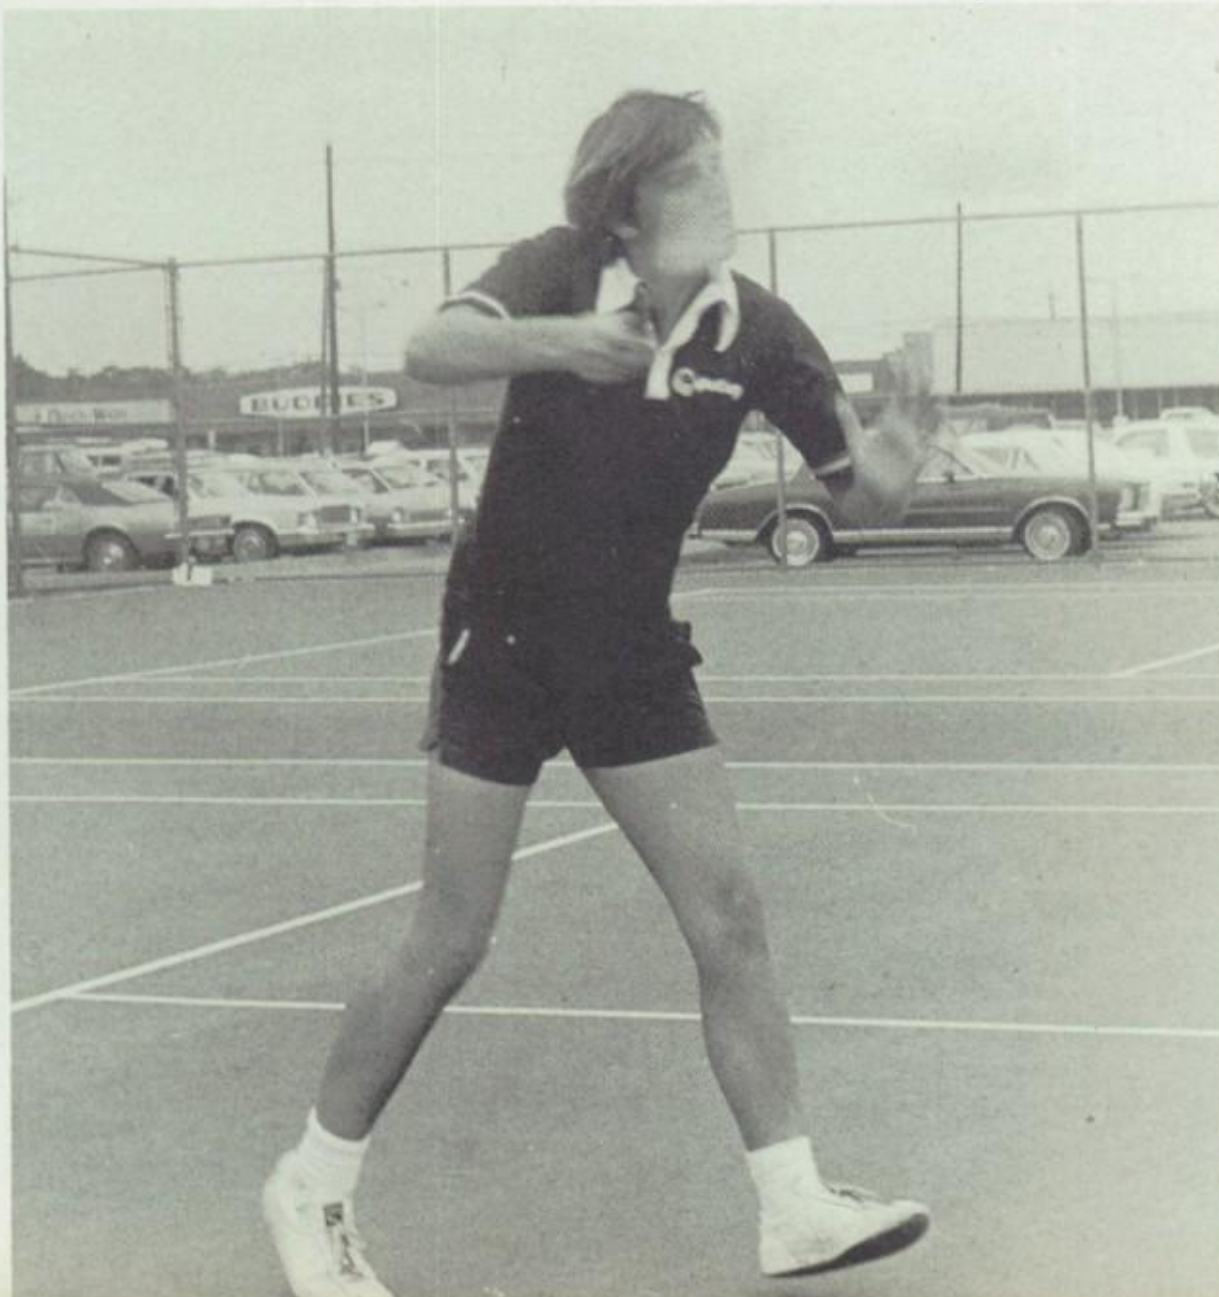

Overall, AHS won 63 percent of all their matches. They played 251 and ended with a 158-93 record. The boys team was the big story, winning 105 and only losing 34 matches.

Take Title

AHS's tennis team picked up right where they left off in the fall by compiling a 27-1-1 record during the spring season.

Wins included two each over Lamar and Sam Houston and one over Bowie. The big win for the team was one over L. D. Bell, who had beaten them in the fall. They also managed to tie Arlington Heights, one of the top teams in the state.

Overall AHS won 68 percent of their matches during the spring season with a record of 191-89.

After the very successful spring season was over, the team headed on to district competition. Here, as expected, AHS won almost everything in sight with Scott Slater taking the singles title and Ben Bowers and Barry Williams taking the doubles title over teammates Harry Baker and Eric Stoker.

In girl competition Mary Riley and Lynn Perkins paired up to beat fellow teammates Lisa Odom and Marla Stoker for the doubles championship.

Winners and runners up then headed to Denton for regional competition where none fared too well. Baker and Stoker, however, did do well enough to reach quarter finals.

Seniors on the team who will be lost to graduation include Williams, Bowers, Stoker, Lee Derr, and Paul Courtney.

Juniors Eye Coming Year.

Coach Randy Porter's 1978-79 baseball team, after what could be termed as a slow start, seemed to gather momentum towards the end of the season, and a strong group of juniors should put that experience to good use next year.

Seniors Darrell Jiles and Charles Beall led the team in pitching, while some of the leading hitters were David Brannon, Danny Galvan, David Patterson, and Tracy Taylor.

The Colts began the year with a close loss to Grand Prairie followed by a very impressive shutout victory over Eastern Hills. After getting shelled by Arlington Heights and Irving by 7-1 and 14-6 scores respectively, the Colts scored their second shutout of the year with a 6-0 win over Dallas Spruce.

The varsity closed out pre-district play with three disappointing losses to L. D. Bell, Cleburne, and again to Irving, going into district play with a team batting average of .352.

Colts End Season 7-5

After a slow preseason start, the Colts opened their district slate on a positive note by defeating the Richland Rebels 3-2. This was followed by a 5-3 victory over Lamar before Sam Houston tossed a five-hitter at the Colts making their district record 2-1.

Bowie and Burleson also branded losses on the Colts before AHS was able to get a fine pitching performance from Darrell Jiles to down Haltom 2-0.

In opening up the second half of district play, AHS was defeated in a close game by Lamar, but the Colts rebounded to hand Richland another loss.

After a non-district victory over Southwest, Arlington again played Sam Houston. The Texans ended the Colts' second-half title hopes by saddling AHS with a 7-2 loss.

After another loss to non-district foe Cleburne, the Colts closed out the season in impressive fashion with consecutive victories over Haltom, Bowie, and Burleson.

Darrell Jiles led the pitching staff with a 4-2 record and a very impressive 1.46 ERA. Leading hitter Tracy Taylor finished at .360 and was the Colts' only member to be named first team All-District.

JV Nine Takes 2nd Half

After what could be termed as a dismal start, the Arlington High junior varsity baseball team bounced back to claim the second half district championship.

AHS began the year with a victory over Grand Prairie by an 11-4 count. But, success was short-lived as the Colts suffered losses to Eastern Hills, Cleburne, and Irving.

The Colts then opened the district season with a win over Richland. Following a split of two games with Irving, the Colts resumed their district schedule by getting pounded by three city rivals, Lamar, Sam Houston, and Bowie.

Following a non-district win over Sam Houston, the Colts got excellent pitching to defeat Burleson 2-1 for their second district win of the season. After sweeping a double header from Southwest, the Colts closed out the first half of district play on a losing note with a defeat by Haltom 9-4.

The second half of district play brought new life to the JV squad as they took consecutive wins from Lamar, Bowie, Sam Houston, Burleson, and Haltom to claim the second half title.

JV finished with an overall record of 12-9 with a 2-4 first half district tally and a 5-0 second half mark.

Colts Win Lamar Relays

The 1979 boys track season was spiced with both highs and lows. The Lamar Relays saw the Colts win their first track meet in four years, but they then scored a disappointing fifth place in the district meet.

Guided by Coaches Gerald Richey and Andy Lester, the team opened the year at the Volunteer Relays. The Colts, with a total of 79 points, were third in a field of six. Some of the highlights were a time of 22.8 seconds in the 220-yard dash by Bryan Williamson, and John Sauerhage's mile run victory with a time of 4:33.5.

The next week, Arlington High hosted the Colt relays with a field of eight teams. The Colt team finished third with a total of 93½ points.

Sauerhage won the 880 with a sizzling time of 1:56.2. Dave Joeckel scored a first place in the discus toss with a mark of 147'2".

The sprint relay team consisting of Williamson, Mark Drinkard, Ricky Gann, and Andy Allen won the relay trophy with a time of 44.1.

One of the highlights of the year came at the Lamar Relays with the Colts easily taking the team championship trophy with a total of 142½ points.

Joeckel again won the discus and Sauerhage the mile, while Baylor Brown captured first place in the pole vault with a height of 13'. The sprint relay and mile relay, consisting of Dicky Kelley, John Via, Williamson, and Sauerhage, won first.

Sauerhage Takes Mile

At the Arlington Relays at Cravens Field, the Colts finished 4th with John Sauerhage gaining the only first place of AHS with a 4:34.7 in the mile.

At the prestigious Texas Relays, Sauerhage won the 3000 meter run with a record time of 8:37.11 as he barely nudged out Lubbock Monterrey's Curtis Conaway by a hundredth of a second.

In Mesquite, at the last warm up before the district meet, Sauerhage again stole the show as he set a new state Class 4-A record in the mile with a time of 4:10.6. Baylor Brown also notched a victory in the pole vault with a mark of 12'.

In district competition, the Colt mile relay team made up of Bryan Williamson, Dicky Kelley, John Via, and Sauerhage finished first with a time of 3:25.64. Williamson also ran the 220 in Regionals and placed 5th. Brown won the district pole vault with a 13'6" and took 4th in Regionals with the same height. Sauerhage took the district mile at 4:32.85. Overall the Colts finished 5th in the district meet.

Sauerhage went on to take first place in the Regional mile competition with a 4:16.50 and advanced to state where he staged a miraculous comeback from near last to first by five yards to capture the state Class 4-A mile run championship.

Track Girls Achieve Goals

1979 was a rewarding year for Miss Joni McCoy's girl's track team. Starting out with a rain-out and tough competition, the girls came back to improve their times and ranking. And at the end of the year all their hard work was rewarded with a district championship.

At the Southwest Park and Recreation Meet, Carrie Bird came in seventh in the 880 with a time of 2:38.4 and Julieanne Brasko placed eighth in the 880. AHS placed two runners in the 440 with Mary Ann Schneider coming in fifth and Susan Somogyi placing seventh.

At South Oak Cliff, Carrie improved her time in the 880 and moved up to fifth place, while Mary Ann also moved up a notch to fourth. Susan scored sixth in the long jump with a leap of 16' ¼".

In Lewisville Carrie won the 880 with a 2:35 clocking. The mile relay also took first with a time of 4:00.7. Others who placed high in the meet were Carlye Brookshire, third in the mile, and Mary Ann and Susan coming in third and fourth in the 440.

Girls' Track Wins Meets

After some tough competition and disappointing performances, the Colts finally began to get the rewards of their hard work.

In the Arlington invitational, the girls recorded several high finishes in winning the meet. Carrie Bird, Carlye Brookshire, and Janet Garvin all took second in their respective events the 880 mile, and 80-yard hurdles. Kathy Hickey gained a first place in the high jump, and the 880 relay also finished first. Susan Somogyi was second in the long jump, and Mary Ann Schneider got third in the 440.

The district meet proved to be a repeat of the Arlington meet, with the Colts winning first overall. Carrie won first in the 880, as did Susan in the long jump. The mile relay scored a first place victory with a time of 4:14, while the 880 and sprint relay teams each took second place finishes.

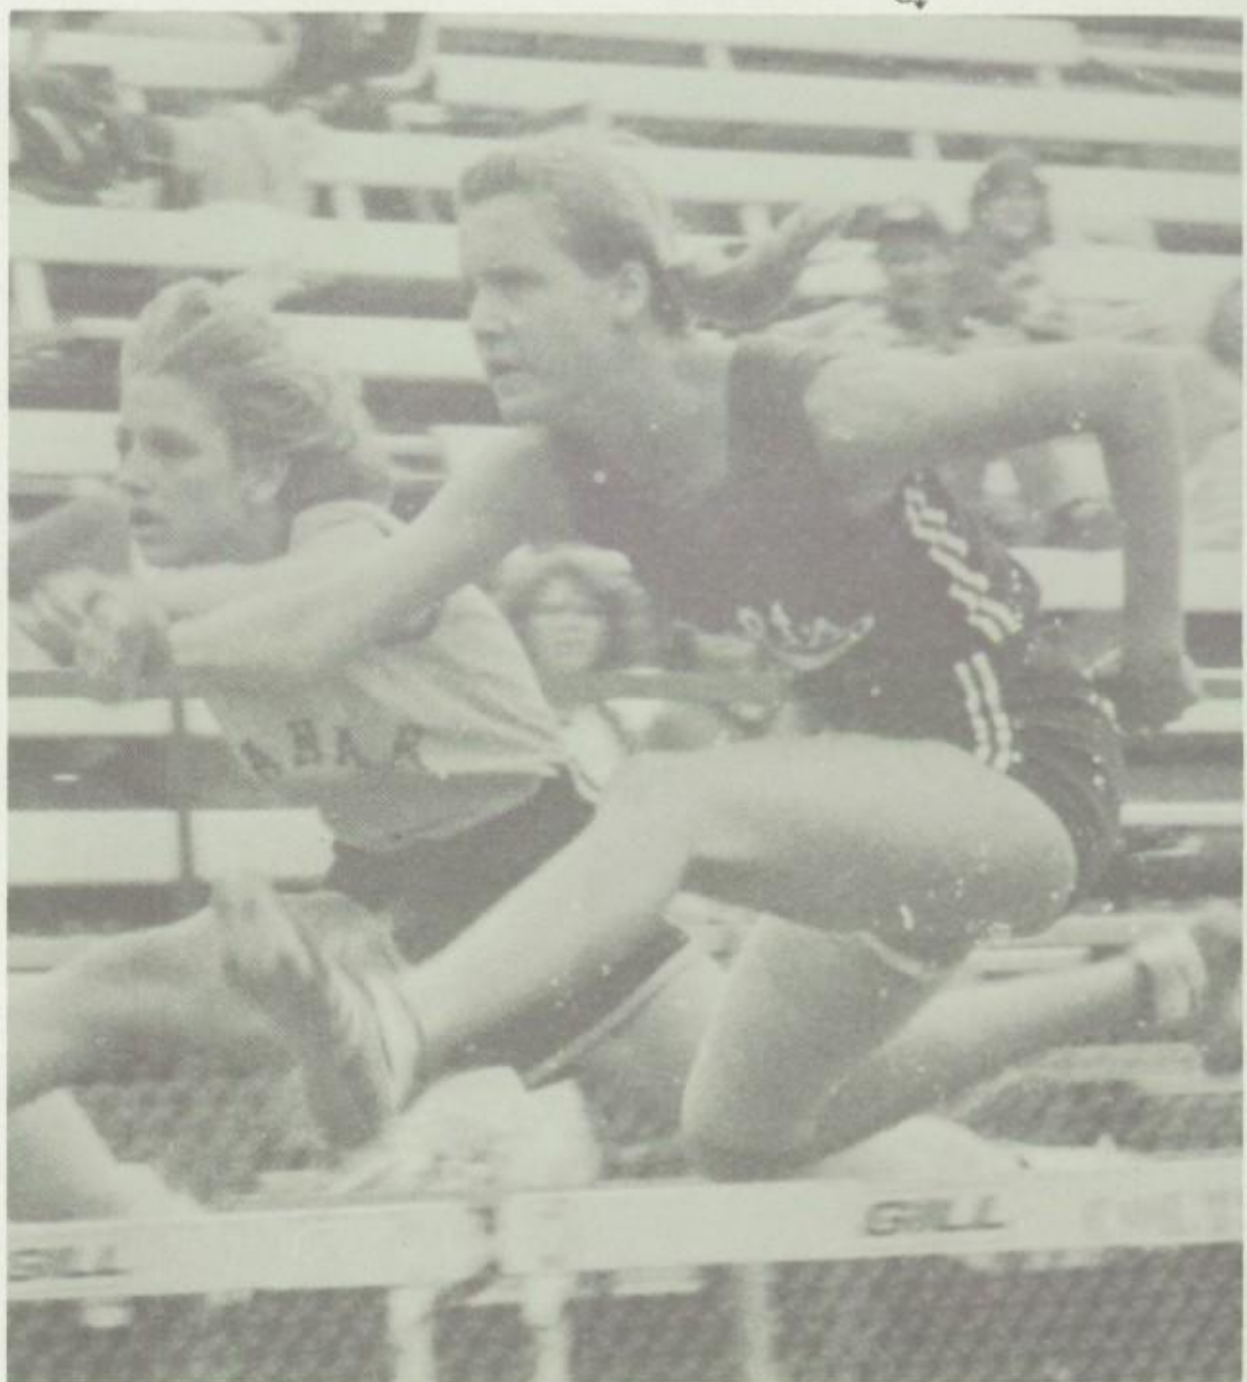

Mary Ann was named as the most dedicated team member at the awards banquet, with Rebecca Merrill named most improved, and Susan high point person for the year.

Coed Team Arouses Spirit

Standing in front of thousands of people and cheering for hours isn't the easiest thing to do. But the AHS cheerleaders did this throughout the year when spirit was both high and low at both boys and girls games.

The 1978 version of AHS cheerleaders featured, for the first time in several years, the addition of yellmen. Tracy Byers, Clem Countess, Rudy Beeching, Kevin Kehl, and Jay Aldriedge added a new dimension to the Colt squad. Tammy Kirkpatrick, Shelli Stewart, Nancy Adams, Joanne Bridges, and Kathy Reamer made up the rest of the squad.

Junior varsity cheerleaders included Holly McKissick, Jana

Ramsey, Dana Williams, Tracy Jaynes, and Sandy Buckner. Mrs. Pat Ehlinger again sponsored the squads.

Both the varsity and JV attended the SMU cheerleader camp last summer and brought home the Spirit Stick and received all superior ribbons. The varsity was named one of the top ten squads out of 200. Kevin, Tracy, and Tammy were asked to return next year as instructors.

In November the cheerleaders attended a one-day camp and competition in the Cotton Bowl where they placed first in their division. In January the squad won first place and $150 in a competition at Red Bird Mall.

9 Receive Recognition

Several players from the various team sports received Most Valuable Player recognition from their respective coaches.

In football, senior quarterback Baylor Brown received the MVP award from Head Coach Mike O'Brien to add to his All-District status.

The volleyball 3-D Award was given to Kelley Viner, who showed the most desire, dedication, and devotion.

In basketball, Milton Michener, a senior postman received the top honor from Coach Dale Archer. Michener was also first team All-District.

Katy Hermann, a two-year starter on the girls basketball squad got the MVP award in her sport.

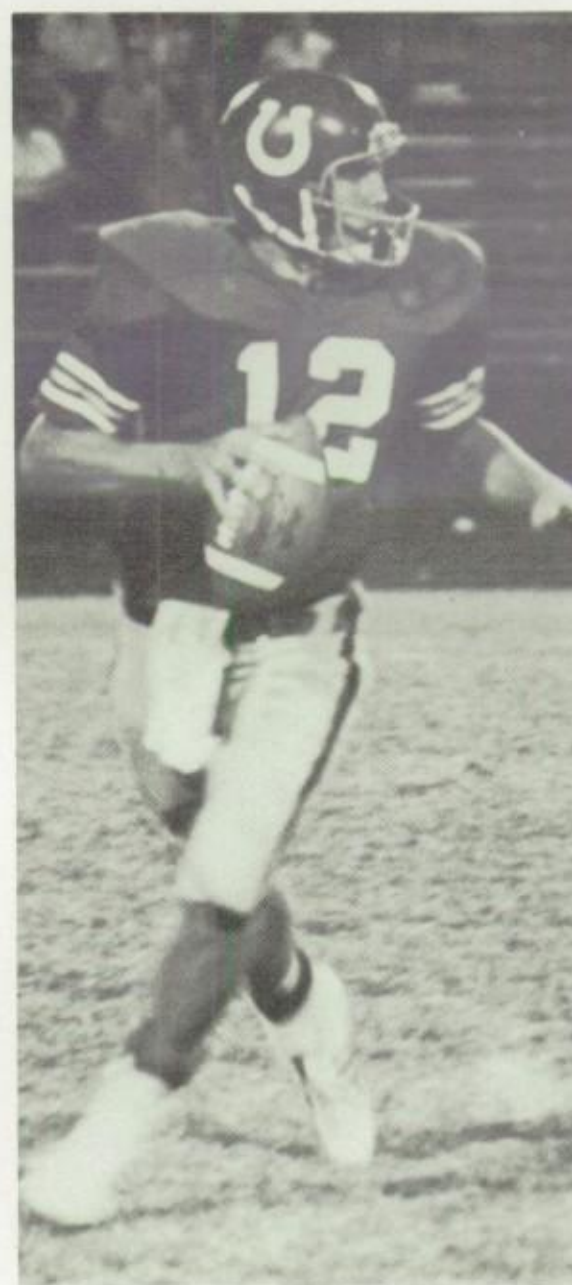

Kurt Rogers, who played both goalie and midfield positions got the soccer MVP award to add to being named All-District.

After winning 1st medalist in the district tourney, Viveca Vandergriff was named the girls golf MVP.

Jeff Hiemenz was given the top award for boys golf after ranking high in the state tournament.

In baseball, Co-MVP's were named by Coach Randy Porter with pitcher Darrell Jiles and catcher David Patterson receiving that distinction.

Most Valuable Players include (A) Viveca Vandergriff, girls golf; (B) Jeff Hiemenz, boys golf; (C) Kelley Viner, volleyball; (D) Darrell Jiles, Co-MVP in baseball; (E) Kurt Rogers, soccer; (F) Baylor Brown, football; (G) Katy Hermann, girls basketball; (H) Milton Michener, boys basketball; and (I) David Patterson, baseball Co-MVP.

Council Leads Activities

Student Council, a form of government run by the students, planned most of the activities at Arlington High.

Senior officers included president, Jeff Lambert; vice president Robin Foster; secretary, Susie Reeves; and treasurer, Susie Einhaus. These seniors, combined with sponsor Mr. Randy Porter, headed the organization.

The year opened with a Howdy Day dance and assembly. Soon thereafter, the Council handled the Homecoming activities.

Another gigantic undertaking of the Council was sponsoring the Colt County Fair. Profits from the fair paid for the Student Council banquet and other activities of the group.

American Heritage Week, a tradition at Arlington High, included 50's, 60's, Nostalgia, and Western Days. A western assembly including a skit was carried out by the Council. Under the guidance of the Council, Twirp Week became a part of life at AHS. A skit and powder puff football games highlighted the week.

Movies such as "The Night of the Living Dead" and "Silver Streak" and dances were provided for the entertainment of AHSers by the Council.

Colorado Trip Climaxes Year For Choir

The 1978-79 school year proved to be a very busy and exciting one for the Choraliers. Beginning the year was UIL solo and ensemble contests after which six members were chosen for the All-State Choir.

During the Christmas season Choraliers made a tour of elementary and junior high schools. A Christmas concert was also presented with the band and orchestra.

With the coming of the new year, choir members centered their energies toward a trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado, where they performed for the Music Educators National Conference and gave a special concert at the Air Force Academy. While in Colorado, the choir enjoyed skiing at Breckenridge.

Following the trip, Choraliers worked toward UIL contest where they received the Sweepstakes trophy.

April saw the Major Works Concert where "Song Triumphant" and "Let All the Nations Praise the Lord" were presented.

The Choraliers concluded the year with performances at Vespers and Graduation.

Chamber Singers Perform For Groups

Chamber Singers kept busy in 1978-79 by performing concerts at various locations in the area.

The year began with a performance for the Dan Dipert Travel Agency where a concert was given for over 600 people.

In March the Chamber Singers entertained the PTA at Open House. Additional concerts included appearances at Haltom and Richland High Schools as well as performances for the Kiwanis Club, Senior Citizens, and Retired Teachers.

A show of popular music was presented by the musical group at Forum 303 late in the year.

Band Gains First Division

"... 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 Forward march! Forward march! Arlington High School proudly presents the 1978 Colt marching band."

These were the sounds the students, parents, and fans heard this fall during football games, halftime shows, and pep rallies. Throughout the football season, the band lended support to the school spirit with such numbers as "España," "The Horse," and of course the Fight Song and the Alma Mater.

Under the field direction of Drum Major Carol Miller, the band also competed in Cleburne and UIL marching contests at which they received superior and excellent ratings, respectively.

The band closed out the season during the last game with a Western Show that ended with a tribute to Principal James Crouch.

Ms. Barbara Ecabert, assisted by Mr. Tommy Hall, directed the band.

Band Turns to Concerts

Following football season, the band split into symphonic and concert groups and started diligent work on concert music. At Christmas, a concert was presented at which "Christmas Rhapsody" and "God of Our Fathers" were featured.

Following the Christmas break, Arlington Music Teachers' and UIL Solo and Ensemble Contests proved very successful for many band members who participated.

With the ice and snow came the mid-winter concert when "The Marriage of Figaro" and "To Be Fed by Ravens" were among the numbers presented. Another number, "Strawflower" featured Amy Hoover, a saxophone soloist. In March, the band competed in UIL Contest.

Following UIL, preparations were made for the Spring Concert when "The Watch on the Rhine", "Bugler's Holiday," and a polished performance of "Ravens" were performed. These numbers were also presented at the Contraband Days Band Festival during a May trip to Lake Charles, Louisiana.

The year was ended with a picnic, a banquet, and a performance at the Vespers service.

Financial support for the band was provided by several money making projects and the Band Booster Club.

The Symphonic and Concert bands were under the direction of Miss Barbara Ecabert and Mr. Tom Hall.

Decked out with new uniforms, a new name, and a new sponsor, the 1978 Arlington High Drill Team presented a fresh look to Colt fans this year.

The Colt Kickers, as they were called, started practice in the summer under the guidance of Mrs. Kathryn Mills. Many hours of rehearsal were put in during an August trip to Camp Carter.

Football season found the girls performing their high kicking entertainment to such tunes as "Night Train" and "Basin Street Blues." High spirited dance routines to "The Wiz" and "Le Freak" were presented during district basketball games.

Major Whitney Schmidt led the Colt Kickers in each routine.

Springtime activities included the Miss Texas Drill Team Competition where the group won a first division trophy.

Orchestra Earns Sweepstakes Rating

The 1978-79 AHS orchestra enjoyed a full and exciting year, competing and performing at several places throughout the state.

The activities were kicked off with a trip to Waco for the Baylor Music Festival where the group received the Outstanding Orchestra Award.

UIL Solo and Ensemble contests then proved very successful for the string players as many members made All-Region. Jennifer Saleebey, Victor Gutzler, Clark Liddell, and Laura Major were named All-State.

In April, the orchestra went to Amarillo where they competed in the Greater Southwest Music Festival and received a Sweepstakes award.

Concerts were presented in the fall, at the Christmas season, and in the spring featuring selections such as "Serenade for Strings" by Tchaikovsky and "Concerto Grosso" by Vaughn Williams.

Serving as officers for the orchestra were Alan Scarborough, president; Bill Block, vice president; Victor Gutzler, treasurer; and Verna Gideon, secretary.

Bill Block was named as Outstanding Orchestra Member.

The 1978 school year saw the AHS Stage Band enjoying one of its most successful years ever.

In September, three players were named to the All-Region Stage Band. Saxophonist Amy Hoover was named All-State.

Throughout the year the Stage Band competed in contests at Mountain View College, Baylor University, UTA, and TCU. The band was rated excellent at all of these contests with the exception of Baylor where they were rated superior.

The fund raising chili supper in February featured a concert by the Stage Band at which contest material was presented. Following the chili supper, the Stage Band made a tour of elementary and junior high schools.

In May the band presented a spring concert featuring new material.

Staff Uses Imagination In Yearbook

Day in and day out Colt Corral staffers are faced with the never-ending problems of cut-lines, copy, layouts, and of course, pictures.

Preparation for the annual began in August at a UTA workshop. With the start of school, work began in earnest. Desperately, staffers bickered over pictures in order to meet deadlines.

The annual journalism assembly in April brought little relief as the staffers struggled the night before to get everything "just right" for the Arlie Awards.

Loretta Cooper edited the yearbook this year. Helping her were Leslie Kelso and Lisa Moore, activities; Juli Baker, honors; Steve Hamlett, organizations; Bruce Smith and Julie Taylor, sports; Debbie Beebe and Heather Harris, classes; Frank Pechacek, photographer; Brad Stockford and Kelli Keithly, ads; and Greta Fink, Business.

Colt Staff Produces Without Sponsor

Neither rain nor sleet nor dark of night kept the 1979 newspaper staff from its appointed task of putting out the 50th volume of The Colt.

Problems faced the paper from the very beginning, as staff members returned to school the second week of the year to find sponsor Mrs. Phyllis Forehand out due to a death in the family. The first issue came out on time, as did three more issues produced in January and February while Mrs. Forehand missed six weeks of school for surgery.

John Hulme served as editor and LeAnne Summers was managing editor. Heidi Harris was news editor, Debbie Beebe magazine editor, and Jerry Hill edited sports. Betsi Tinsley directed advertising, and Carla White kept the books.

Other staff members included Libby McMahon, assistant news editor; Carmen Hill, magazine assistant; Cathy Eigel, organizations editor; Jeana Mitchell, feature editor; and Marty Wieder, columnist.

Dave Joeckel and John Knox wrote sports, and David Cooper and David Kaplan sold ads.

Capturing the '78-'79 year at AHS on film was the job of the photo-journalism staff.

From choir to football and dinners to band concerts, a photographer could always be seen somewhere in the crowd.

Their pictures were put to good use both in the annual and school newspaper.

Quill and Scroll, journalism's answer to the Honor Society, gave students the chance to display their journalistic talents.

The year began with the traditional picnic at Howard Moore Park. Food, footballs, and frisbees were the order of the day, along with the traditional sum-mors.

With April came the annual citywide Quill and Scroll banquet at the Holiday Inn. Best staffer awards for the publications and individual writing awards were presented.

Led by officers Bill Pribyl, president; John Boomer, secretary; Clark Liddell, vice president; Ken Knezek, treasurer; Britt Brookshire, girls' social chairman; Marty Wieder, boys' social chairman; and Juli Baker, reporter, the National Honor Society participated in several activities.

With the slogan Little Arlie says "Abstract the Farmers," the NHS float rolled backwards through the Homecoming Parade. In the spring, the NHS tapped its new members. The new inductees were presented with National Honor Society ribbons and were treated to donuts and soft drinks.

An induction ceremony followed. New members were escorted to the stage and given the NHS pledge. Four members of the NHS spoke on the principles of the organization; Bill Pribyl on character, Clark Liddell on leadership, John Boomer on scholarship, and Chris Wade on service.

Thespian Activities Provide Excitement

Thespians and Thespian understudies enjoyed a full year of various activities.

Events included a costume party on Halloween, participation in both the Homecoming parade and the Colt County Fair, and a picnic in the spring.

Thespians re-instated the sack lunch theater. Students were entertained by skits, scenes, and music while they ate their lunch. Also, a noon-time Christmas program was presented with the same type format.

The highlight of the year for understudies came after formal initiations when they were taken out for crazy stunts to pass informal initiation.

Club president was Andy Barter; vice-president, Clint Bulard; Kyle Henderson served as treasurer, and Elizabeth Mahaffey filled the position of secretary. Sponsoring the group was Mrs. Lila Menteer, the new drama instructor.

AFS Links Different Cultures, People

Led by officers Kathleen Briggs, president; Kristine Bauer, vice president; and Holly Lindem, secretary; the Arlington High School American Field Service was able to participate in a variety of activities.

Under the direction of Mr. William Fink, the club began the year with a hayride in the country. To earn money, the AFS sold ice cream at the Colt County Fair.

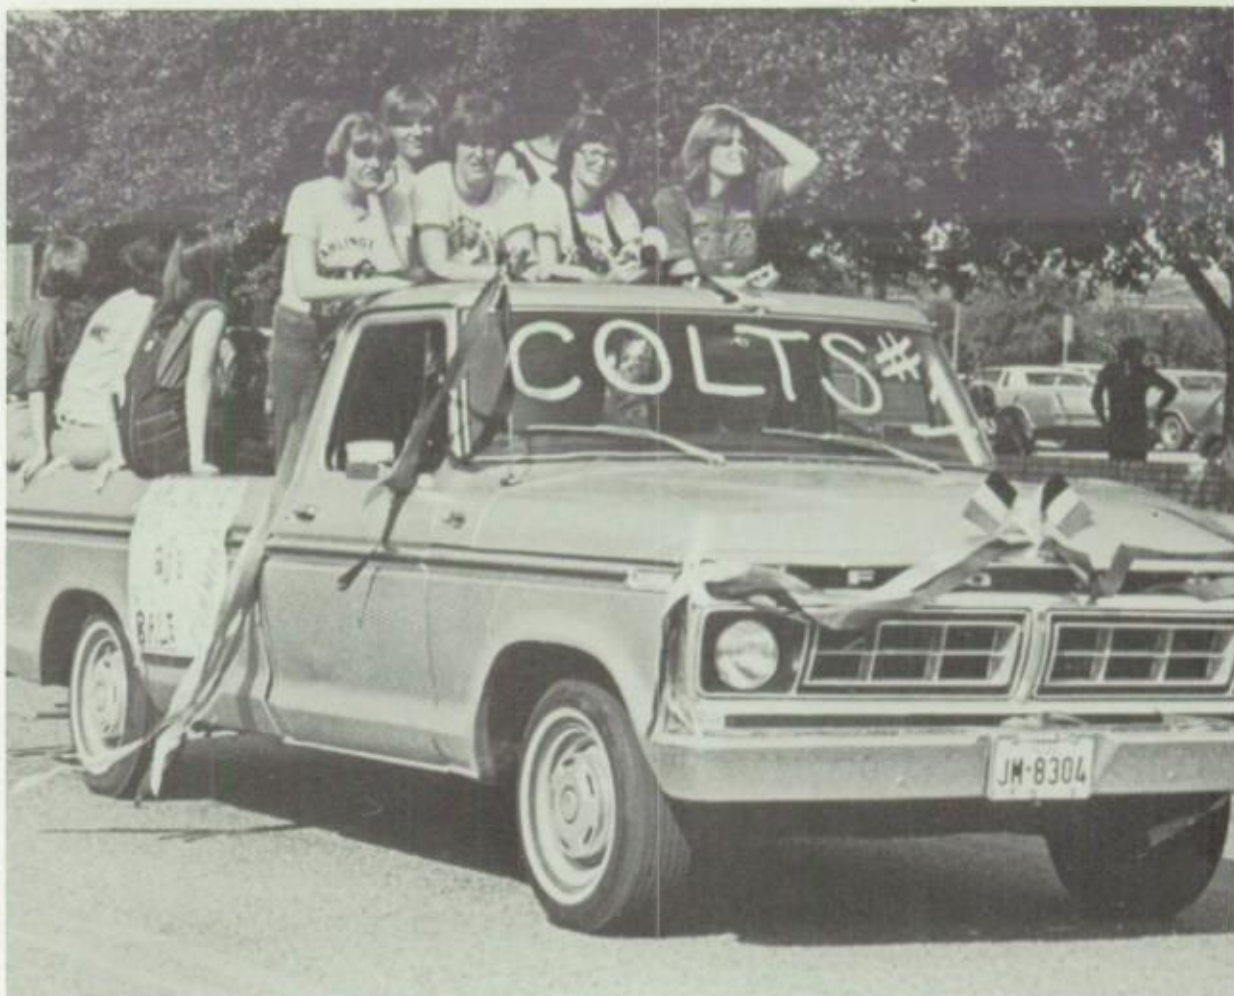

The main money-making activity for the organization was the American Field Service Week friendship link contest. The week kicked off with the AFS assembly where exchange students discussed the culture, customs, and traditions of their countries. To earn money to support a foreign exchange student, AFS sold friendship links for 5¢ each.

AFS' foreign exchange student was Pierre JeanRay from Belgium.

Key Club Assists Charity Organizations

Performing services for the community and school was the main function of the AHS Key Club.

In the past, the club has been comprised mainly of young men. However, it was open to anyone interested in "lending a helping hand". Arlington's Kiwanis Club acted as the group's sponsor.

Projects included selling Easter Seals, assisting with the March of Dimes Walk-a-Thon, and marking bikes during safety week.

Highlights of the year included the district convention in Dallas, a camping trip, and banquets.

Jerry Hill was Key Club president, with Lee Derr filling the office of vice-president. Mark Jacobs occupied the position of secretary, and serving as treasurer was Kerry Kerr. Advisors were Mr. Dillard Isabel from AHS and Mr. Pat McDowell representing Kiwanis.

Sportsmen Enjoy Time, Friendship

Arlington High's sports-minded students had the opportunity of joining other youth with similar interests in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Both girls and boys representing a wide field of sports including basketball, volleyball, football, and golf were eligible for membership in the group.

The club mainly offered members time to talk and share, and enjoy each other's fellowship. A meeting once a month in the informal setting of a member's home usually presented the chance for such times.

Caroling at Christmas and doughnut breakfasts were other club activities which provided for sharing.

Heading up the club as president was Gayle Guesner with Pat McGahey as vice president. Julie Taylor served as secretary, and Melodee Maginnis filled the office of treasurer. Mr. David Evans was the club's sponsor.

ROTC Earns High Rating

ROTC, AHS' military branch, began their special duties during football season taking tickets in reserved sections at the stadiums. They were responsible for the color guard at College Night, the FBLA district meet, and at Open House.

However, the year was not spent entirely working. The group attended a Christmas party, spring picnic, the awards banquet, and the eleventh annual Military Ball.

Field trips were also included on the agenda. Cadets visited General Dynamics Aircraft plant in Ft. Worth and Dallas Naval Air Station, where they were treated to a helicopter ride over Arlington.

After an inspection by the Air Force, the group was rated as outstanding.

VOCT Activities Prove Useful in '79

Contests played a big part in the year's activities for Vocational Occupational Cooperative Training.

After the March Area II convention was held in Burleson, Steve Worthy, Mike Reed, David Frydenberg, and David Stephen traveled to Galveston in May to compete state wide.

The club visited in nursing and senior citizens' homes where games such as dominoes were played with the residents.

Sales work including the sale of giant coloring books was planned and carried out in

Officers included president, Mike Reed; vice-president, Adam Depweg; secretary, David Frydenberg; treasurer, Steve Worthy; parliamentarian, David Stephen; and sergeant-at-arms, Bryan Leonard. Mrs. Patsy Spracklen sponsored the club.

AHS Interact Club Provides Services

Interact, a youth service group, is sponsored by men's Rotary Clubs who take an interest in young adults. The AHS Interact Club is supported by the Rotary Club of Arlington, and was kept busy through the year with activities.

Some activities included Christmas caroling at the Arlington Mental Hospital, working at the Veda Knox Halloween Carnival, and participation in "Youth-to-Youth" program for third-graders.

Additional projects included collecting and giving food to families for Thanksgiving, presenting a program for the Rotary Club, and participating in both the Colt County Fair and the Homecoming parade. Every month two Interact members had the opportunity to be guests for lunch at the Rotary meeting.

Laura McKaig served as president. Assisting her was vice president, Pam Martin. Greg Heinzman filled the position of treasurer, with Suzy Reeves as secretary. Mrs. Elizabeth Free sponsored the group.

FFA Club Develops Leadership

AHS students in the vocational agriculture program had the opportunity to join the extra-curricular club, Future Farmers of America.

The main function of the club was to develop leadership qualities in participating members through varied projects.

All chapter officers attended a leadership school after which they competed in the district leadership contest. They also planned and prepared for a variety of activities.

As tradition dictated, several stockshows and rodeos were attended as well as the State Fair of Texas.

A wide field of other activities included a fruit sale, judging contests, conventions, and banquets.

Presiding chapter officers were Niles Holmes, president; Alan Paschal, vice president; Ginny Giddings, secretary, and Jimmy McLeod, treasurer. Additional officers included Janet Langford, Barry Gilbreath, Rickey Pierce, Bryan Bennett, John Via, and Jeff Hill. Mr. Jackie Davis and Mr. Phillip Gupton served as sponsors for the club.

HECE Illustrates Caring

Students involved in the Home Economics Cooperative Education courses with on-the-job training, had the opportunity to join the HECE Club.

The club, which encouraged students to be active in school, community, and career leadership, strived to increase members' understanding of service to others.

Several activities which provided a means by which to serve included making stockings for a state hospital and having a party for students at Veda Knox School at Christmas time. Members also sponsored a child, for research on leukemia and created a display for the International Year of the Child held at Six Flags Shopping Mall.

Involvement beyond AHS included area and state conventions, citywide Christmas dinner, as well as a citywide employer-employee banquet.

A fund raising project at Traders Village and a booth in the Colt County Fair provided the club with funds for projects such as Halloween costume party and participation in the Homecoming parade.

Officers of AHS's HECE Club consisted of Cheryl Bergstrom as president, Dede Conger as vice president, Kristen Kirkland as historian, Lynn Freeman as secretary-treasurer, and Kat DeVito as the Advisory Counsel representative.

Fine Arts, Fun Literary Club's Purpose

An AHS club that focused on fine arts and having fun was the Literary Club.

The club offered interested students opportunities to share with each other common interests in literature, art, theatre, and culture.

Those goals were achieved through activities such as attending theatrical performances, visiting museums, and other special events. An interesting program started was purchasing books, which were then made available for swapping.

On the lighter side, club members went on picnics, set up a "Cookie Monster" for the Colt County Fair, and rode in the Homecoming parade.

Presiding officers of the Literary Club included Melody Olsen as president, Verna Gideon as vice president, and Edie Thompson as secretary. Leslie Kelso and Sandra Baird filled the positions of treasurer and activity chairman respectively. Mr. Jack Covington and Mrs. Lanelle Goodman co-sponsored the group.

Future Business Leaders of America was one of the most active clubs at AHS this year as they hosted the district convention. The Arlington High group received the friendliest chapter award.

Taking honors in the other contests were Michelle Moritz, Kevin Kehl, Marianne Durning, Kelly Molen, Mark Ferguson, Susie Reeves, Jenny Powell, Jenny Ramsey, Tom Lucas, and James Gresko. Thirty-six AHS FBLA members were present and working on convention committees.

Topping off the year with state honors were Michelle, Kelly, and Mark. The AHS chapter was the only group to boast two state first place winners.

Also making the trip to Austin were Jenny Powell, Jenny Ramsey, Marianne, and James. Sponsors include Mrs. Pat Thompson, Mrs. Joanne Richey, Mrs. Vicki Johnson, and Mrs. Marie Crouch.

In December the group had a Christmas dinner and attended the All-State Beauty Show at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dallas.

VICA members competed in district and state competitions in the spring. An awards banquet was held in May. Ribbons, plaques, and trophies were presented to those with outstanding achievements in specific areas.

HOE Places At Regional

HOE is a vocational coop program for students interested in health careers and desiring to learn more about the field or a particular area while still in high school.

Arlington High HOE is associated with Health Occupations Students of America as Chapter 102, Texas Association. Club officers include Nancy Watson, president; Kerri Stovall, vice president; Cindy Mann, secretary; Scott Houghton, treasurer; Tisha Elmore, sentinel; Randy Ramahi, parliamentarian; Dawn Gullender, historian; and Leslie Hendrix, reporter.

This year students participated in area competition and had five occupational notebooks qualify for state. Nancy Watson placed first in area and second in state competition for Dental Assistant. Two occupational projects and one chapter display qualified for state and were awarded fifth place ribbons.

In the spring, HOE students had a reception for new students joining the program and an employer appreciation dinner for those in the Arlington area who provided training facilities for them.

FHA Girls Make Dough

To some students, homemaking only involves cooking, sewing, and caring for children, but the future homemakers know that it involves much more.

Beginning the year with Colt Spirit, the members worked on a float for the Homecoming Parade.

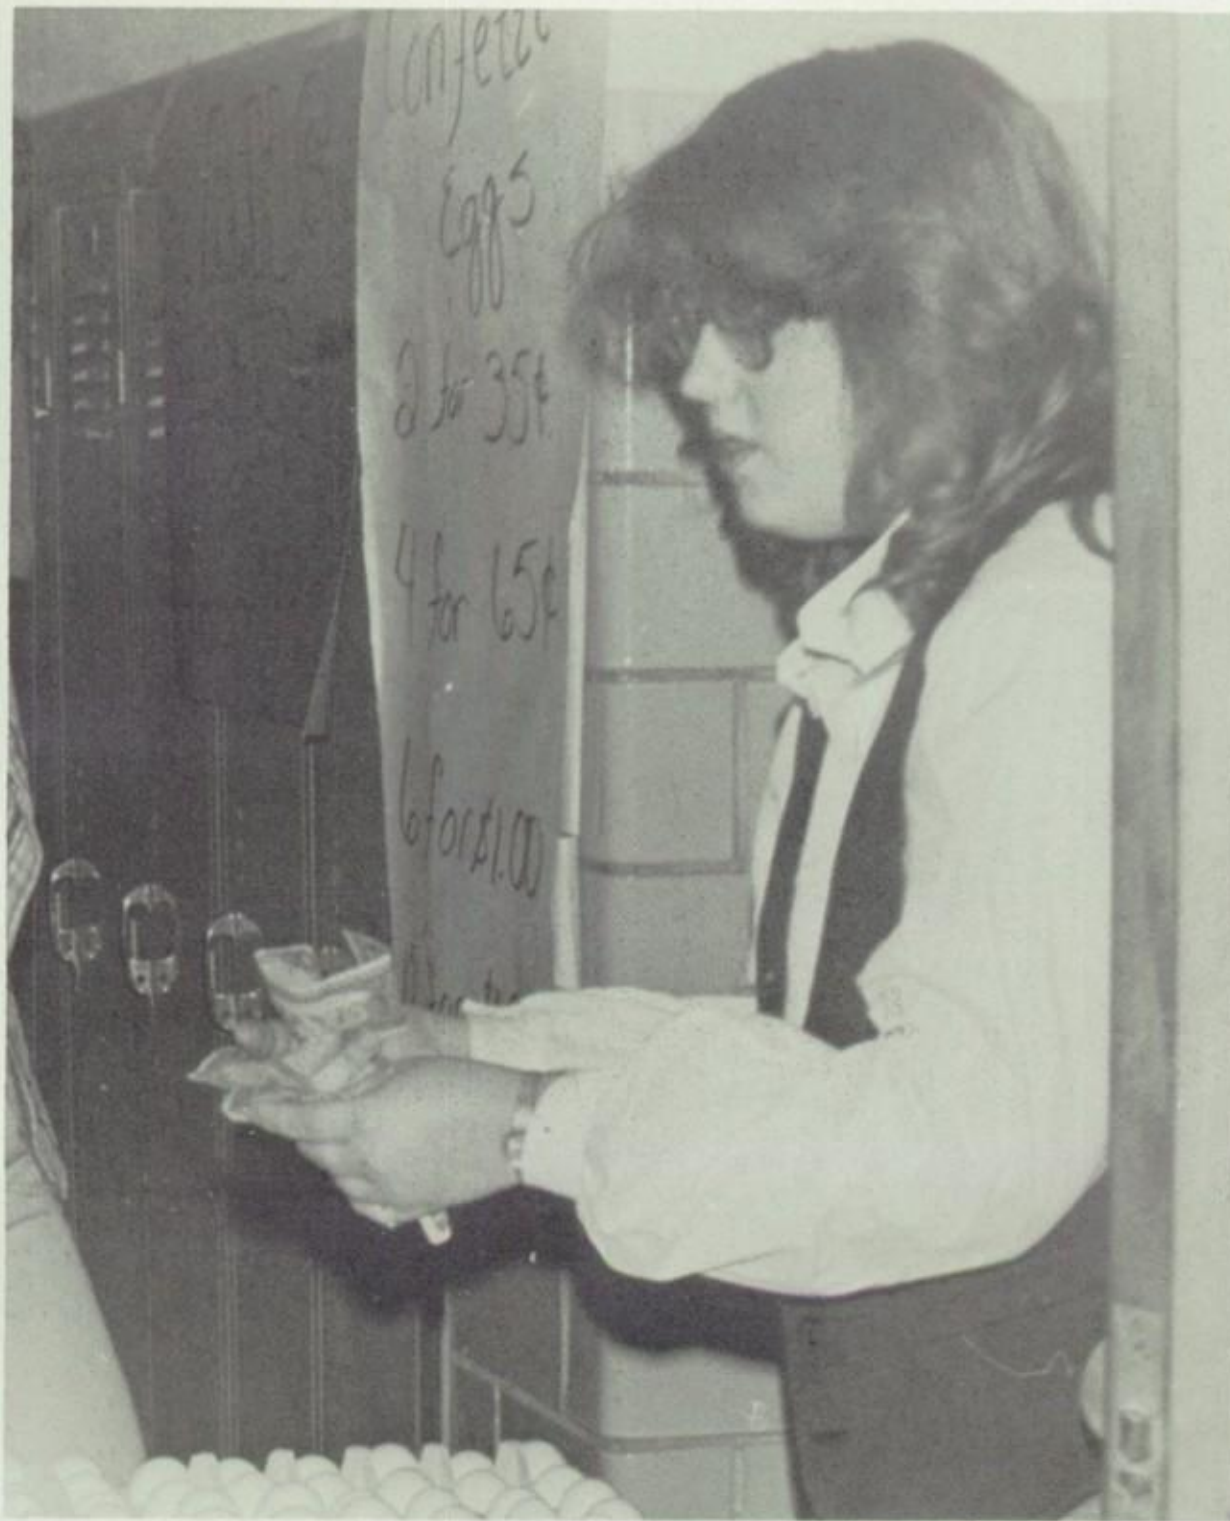

As Christmas rolled around, FHAers raised money by selling gift-wrapping paper. Another money-raising project was initiated during the Colt County Fair. Club members manned a booth and sold confetti eggs, nachos, and Cokes.

Besides participating in school related activities, they also attended several conventions. The Area 5 FHA meeting in Denton and the state convention were two of the meetings they participated in. To relax after all of these activities, the club dined at Crystal's in the spring.

Officers for the club were Layne Fuston, president; Christi Jacob, vice president; Debbie Byrd, secretary; and Kaye Nichols and Julie Fitzgerald, sponsor representatives.

A well organized club could not run efficiently without dedicated sponsors. Mrs. Rebecca McDonald and Miss Deana Koonsman filled these positions.

Art Club Activities Fill Exciting Year

Art Club members started off their year by printing spirit ribbons which were sold during football season. At the Homecoming parade, the Art Club's float took first place in competition.

Other clubs throughout AHS were helped by the Art Club in the printing of club T-shirts. The Christmas season was highlighted by a party at the home of Gary Harnist. Later in the year, the club took a field trip to the Pompeii exhibit and the Henry Moore sculpture in Dallas. The trip ended with a stop at the Hyatt Regency Hotel where various works of art were displayed.

The spring was highlighted by an art sale at the school.

Officers included Gary Harnist, president; Cindy Singletary, vice president; Stacia Stebler, secretary; Tia Walker, treasurer; and Nell Huebner, historian-reporter.

Students possessing an interest in  $E=mc^2$ , black holes, and other such bewildering phenomena enjoyed a limited schedule in the Junior Engineering Technological Society.

Valuable classroom experience enabled JETS members to understand the reasons behind physical happenings of the world.

The club visited the UTA science building where members were shown the use of advanced scientific equipment.

At a later return trip to UTA, the JETS were privileged to sit in on an entertaining presentation given by Dr. Jearl Walker of Cleveland State University, which was appropriately called "The Flying Circus of Physics."

The JETS were sponsored by Mr. Mike Wharton.

FTA Explores Occupation

Joining other vocational oriented clubs at Arlington High School was the Future Teachers Association. Students met periodically during the year, discussing their common goal and planning activities which would expose them to their future profession.

With the help of sponsors Mrs. Jozelle Whitfield, counselor, and Mrs. Marie Cremer, Spanish teacher, members visited Swift Elementary throughout the whole school year, observing different techniques of teaching.

The future teachers also participated in Colt County Fair.

They raised money by operating a booth in which they sold cupcakes and cookies. Towards the end of the year, club members and sponsors ate out together.

Serving as officers of the Future Teachers Association were Anne Wallace, president; Andy Atchley, vice-president; Meg Dallmeyer, secretary; and Brenda Adams, publicity chairman.

OEA Works In Offices

OEA members enjoyed a full and busy year with fund raising projects, dinners, meeting, and various competitions.

During the school year, OEA sold Tupperware, candles, and coloring books. They also sold baked goods at Colt County Fair.

The club met at Mrs. Diane Marler's house for elections. Clubbers also participated in breakfasts and dinners. For fun the members tried their skills at the bowling ally.

In area competition, Mitzi Lemons received a first place in Typing I; Lloyd Long placed first in Accounting II; and Julie Eaves received second place on Job Interview. In state competition, Julie placed first while Lloyd received a third place. Both Julie and Lloyd competed in the National contest in Cincinnati, Ohio.

To climax the year, OEA held an Employer-Employee Banquet at which awards were given to outstanding students.

Officers for OEA were Sharon Egnot, president; Julie Eaves, vice president; Cheryl Loose, secretary; Kim Bergstrom, treasurer; Jeana Mitchell, reporter/historian; and Lloyd Long, parliamentarian.

Debaters Employ Persuasive Techniques

Perhaps the most up-to-date, informed groups at AHS this year was the Debate Club. Exploring one topic during the school year, they researched the US energy question through newspaper and any other available sources. Each student created his own plan for the energy crunch.

To defend their stands and use the information gathered, the debate team travelled through the metroplex to participate in various tournaments. The students won trophies and made many friends with other debate enthusiasts.

In the spring, debate team members competed in UIL competition. They also earned points, which enabled them to join the National Forensic League. Sponsoring the group was Mrs. Martha Gardener.

YG Group Spreads Cheer

Youth Guidance Club members have as their purpose to inspire, aid, and sympathize with their fellow students. Invocations at football games, cards to students who had deaths in their families, and inspirational posters were all a part of YGC activities. Tutoring students was also an important part of YGC this year.

Officers were Janet Wilson,

TALA Plans Novel Year

The Library Club at AHS enjoyed a fun Christmas party at Woodcrest Apartment Club Room. Everyone brought different dishes for the dinner, and secret pals were revealed at the gift exchange. New members were initiated at the party.

At the Colt County Fair the Library Club conducted its traditional ping-pong ball toss. Money they earned from their booming business helped defray the registration expenses for those attending the state conference.

Members Sharon Hughes, Carla White, Anna St. Clair, and Antia Lyon attended the annual Teenage Library Association's conference on the Sam Houston State University campus. At the convention, Sharon Hughes was elected as the 1980 state parliamentarian. Members also worked on a sound-slide presentation to be entered in the Audio-Visual Contest at the district's TALA 1980 conference to be held in Arlington.

The club could not function properly without efficient officers. Carla White held the office of president, Sharon Hughes was elected vice president, and Anna St. Clair took the office of secretary.

Club Fixes Old Homes

Nobody can say that Industrial Arts did not do anything this year. After three years of experience, the club had one of its busiest years ever.

At the beginning of the year, club members began repairing the homes of senior citizens one weekend of every month. Members of the club have fixed broken windows, patched screens, painted, caulked around windows and doors, fixed floors, and repaired porches.

By contacting the director of the Arlington Senior Citizens, the IA members decided on the houses they would repair.

Money raised at the Colt County Fair helped to fund the project along with donations from Arlington Hardware and the Texas Electric Service Company.

To lead the club in their activities, Sherill Ellis was elected as president; Charles Wingate, secretary; Robert Dunn, treasurer; John Rudolph, special; and Robby Cox, historian. Mr. Robert Nutter served as the sponsor.

German Clubbers showed their enthusiasm throughout the year by participating in a wide variety of activities.

The first official German activity was visiting the State Fair of Texas on German Day. Novemberfest at UTA provided members the opportunity to display their German oriented talent.

The month of December, the time for caroling and parties, found the club singing German Christmas songs.

Pretzels were offered to Arlington High visitors at the Colt County Fair.

A well-run organization has efficient officers, and they were elected early in the year. Scott Agnew was chosen as president; Dena Grant took the office of vice president; and Michelle Moritz was picked as secretary-treasurer.

Sponsors for the club included Herr William W. Fink, and Frau Cassandra Williams.

Club Learns Of Customs

To some Spanish students, being in the Spanish Club is just as important as taking the language.

Club members participated in many activities to further the knowledge of the Spanish culture. One of these activities was the Colt County Fair. Enterprising members sold nachos and drinks at the fair. They also performed wedding ceremonies and gave the lucky (or unlucky) couples a certificate of marriage.

Another highlight of the year was hosting a foreign exchange student from Argentina.

To complete the year, the club had a spring party near the end of March.

Without responsible officers, the club could not run efficiently. Lisa Stevens served as president, Christi Jacob as vice president, Cari Fowler as secretary, and Rita Schaefer as treasurer.

Sponsors included Mrs. Edna Snawder and Mrs. Rose Marie Cremer.

French Club Views Arts

"C'est la vie de château" French was the life. Parties, dinners, and plays were among the activities that filled the club's calendar.

Clubbers wore yellow T-shirts inscribed with the phrase "Embrasse moi francia pour amants."

At the first party, students sampled French dishes made by club members. The affair was held in Kent Hughes' backyard which was decorated with lanterns and paper flowers.

The next dinner was held at the home of Andrea Nelson. Entertainment for this activity included singing, a ballet performance, and a magic show.

Clubbers also went out to eat at such places as the Old Swiss House and the Magic Pan. The plays "Scapino" and Moliere's "The Miser" were also viewed by members.

Officers for the French Club were Lori Hutchinson, Irmgard Fritz, Tracy Evans, Christi Lawing, Arlene Berry, and John Knox.

V.I.P. Brown Bag
Luncheon*

What is a brown bag luncheon? Well, the homemaking department has decided it is time for the A.H.S. faculty to get to know each other. Because of "Budget Blues", we can't afford to feed you, so brown bag luncheons were the obvious solution. Placemats, iced tea, coffee, and dessert will be provided, and each faculty member will be sent a brown bag with instructions to fill with your favorite lunch. The number of participants will be limited to 20 teachers, two administrators, and two staff members. The luncheons will be held both lunch hours on the last Friday of each month in the homemaking living room. Be watching for your brown bag invitation. If you don't get one this month, you'll be receiving one in the next few months.

Crouch, Covert, Board Direct Students

For a school to be run efficiently there must be at the head of it strong leadership. For Arlington High this came in the form of a dynamic principal, Mr. James Crouch.

In his eighth year at the head of AHS, Mr. Crouch found time to be many things to many people. He was a friend to the students, a backer of the athletic teams, and a support to his teachers.

Backing Mr. Crouch was Superintendent of Schools Mr. James Covert and board members Dr. Truett Boles, Dr. J. M. Farrell, Mr. William Bondurant, Mrs. Tye Barnett, Mr. Elwood Preiss, Mr. Dan Dipert, and Mr. Phil McGahey.

Vice Principals, Counselors Aid AHSers

Probably the busiest offices in Arlington High School were those of the vice principals and counselors. Theirs was the never-ending job of seeing that AHSers were where they should be at the right time.

The ranks of AHS vice principals were raided this year when the administration building became the new home of Vice Principal Mrs. Mildred Helms who became the director of secondary curriculum. AHS counselor Mrs. Carol Winter moved down the hall to assume the vice principal's role.

Mr. Klaus Driessen moved over from Bowie to fill the counseling vacancy and to aid Arlington High School students with their schedules.

Filling the other vice principal posts were Mr. Wendell Lackey and Mr. Bob Howington.

Welcoming Mr. Driessen to his Arlington High duties were the other counselors Mrs. Ann Schmidt, Mrs. Jozelle Whitfield, and Mrs. Alice Davisson.

Office Workers, Librarians Offer Skills

All work and no play was the theme for Arlington High School secretaries and librarians. Every school has an over abundance of paper work, and AHS was no exception.

Mrs. Jeanne Butler served as Principal James Crouch's secretary and assisted him with his paper work. Secretaries in the attendance office, who recorded absences and prepared tardy slips as well as absentee lists, were Mrs. JoAnn Derrick and Mrs. Helen Croford. Mrs. Annette Archer kept the funds of clubs and departments straight in her bookkeeping position.

In the counseling office two very capable ladies kept things organized. Mrs. Karen Williams prepared announcements and registered new students, while Mrs. Molly Dalton fed the computer.

The school library was an ideal place to read, research, and enjoy magazines. AHS' librarian, Mrs. Pat Moses was able to locate almost anything for a confused student.

Mrs. Virginia Coker kept films and tapes available for classroom use, while the other library aide, Mrs. Becky Cret-singer managed the reference room.

Senior English Aids College Preparation

Senior English consisted of themes, memorizations, and lots of class discussion. The first quarter saw seniors explore the tragedies of Oedipus the King, Hamlet, or Macbeth, and Wuthering Heights. The last two quarters consisted of more diversified subjects including studies of social criticism, the human condition, and self-knowledge.

Teachers attempted to instruct students how to better communicate through varied writing types. Improved basic reading skill was also a prime emphasis. Foremost in teachers' minds, however, was the preparation of seniors for college.

This year's seniors have experienced all through high school the movement of going back to basic English skills. This period of transition was marked by new learning methods, as well as standard devices.

English Furnishes Grammar, Literature

English credits are a part of everyone's graduation requirements. Sophomores and juniors enrolled in some form of English to meet those needs.

Regular sophomore English consisted of a review of traditional grammar. A study, in varying forms, of world literature was also stressed, as were basic composition skills.

A traditional grammar review also appeared on the regular junior English agenda. Particular emphasis on composition and research techniques gave juniors many hours of experience in that area.

Honors and remedial English courses were available to students at Arlington High School. Study was geared to a more specialized level for both classes.

Pupils Grow By Learning Languages

Among AHS students' choices of electives this year were four foreign languages. These courses explored Latin, German, French, and Spanish.

Latin courses gave students the chance to learn sounds, grammatical structures, vocabulary, and syntax. Also included were studies of the Roman culture and classics.

The French department emphasized speaking, as well as reading and writing through audio-lingual methods. Vocabulary enrichment in the form of vocabulary tests plagued the nights of many students. Besides vocabulary, the French culture was discussed.

German and Spanish students both had use of recorded lessons which allowed students to hear native speakers. Both courses had three levels and explored background and cultures.

Moles, lantums, calories, dissections, formulas, equations, laws, etc. What do these terms have in common? They all were aspects that science students dealt with.

To the astonishment of chemistry students potassium actually reacted when contacted with water.

Physics students worked their way through brain torturing formulas, laws, and equations; while astronomers learned the fact that Neptune is truly the outermost planet.

Geology students studied the formation of rocks and the destruction of rocks by erosion.

Math Pupils Figure Trig, Inequalities

Fourteen mathematics courses provided a wide choice range for students to consider, including both level and interest.

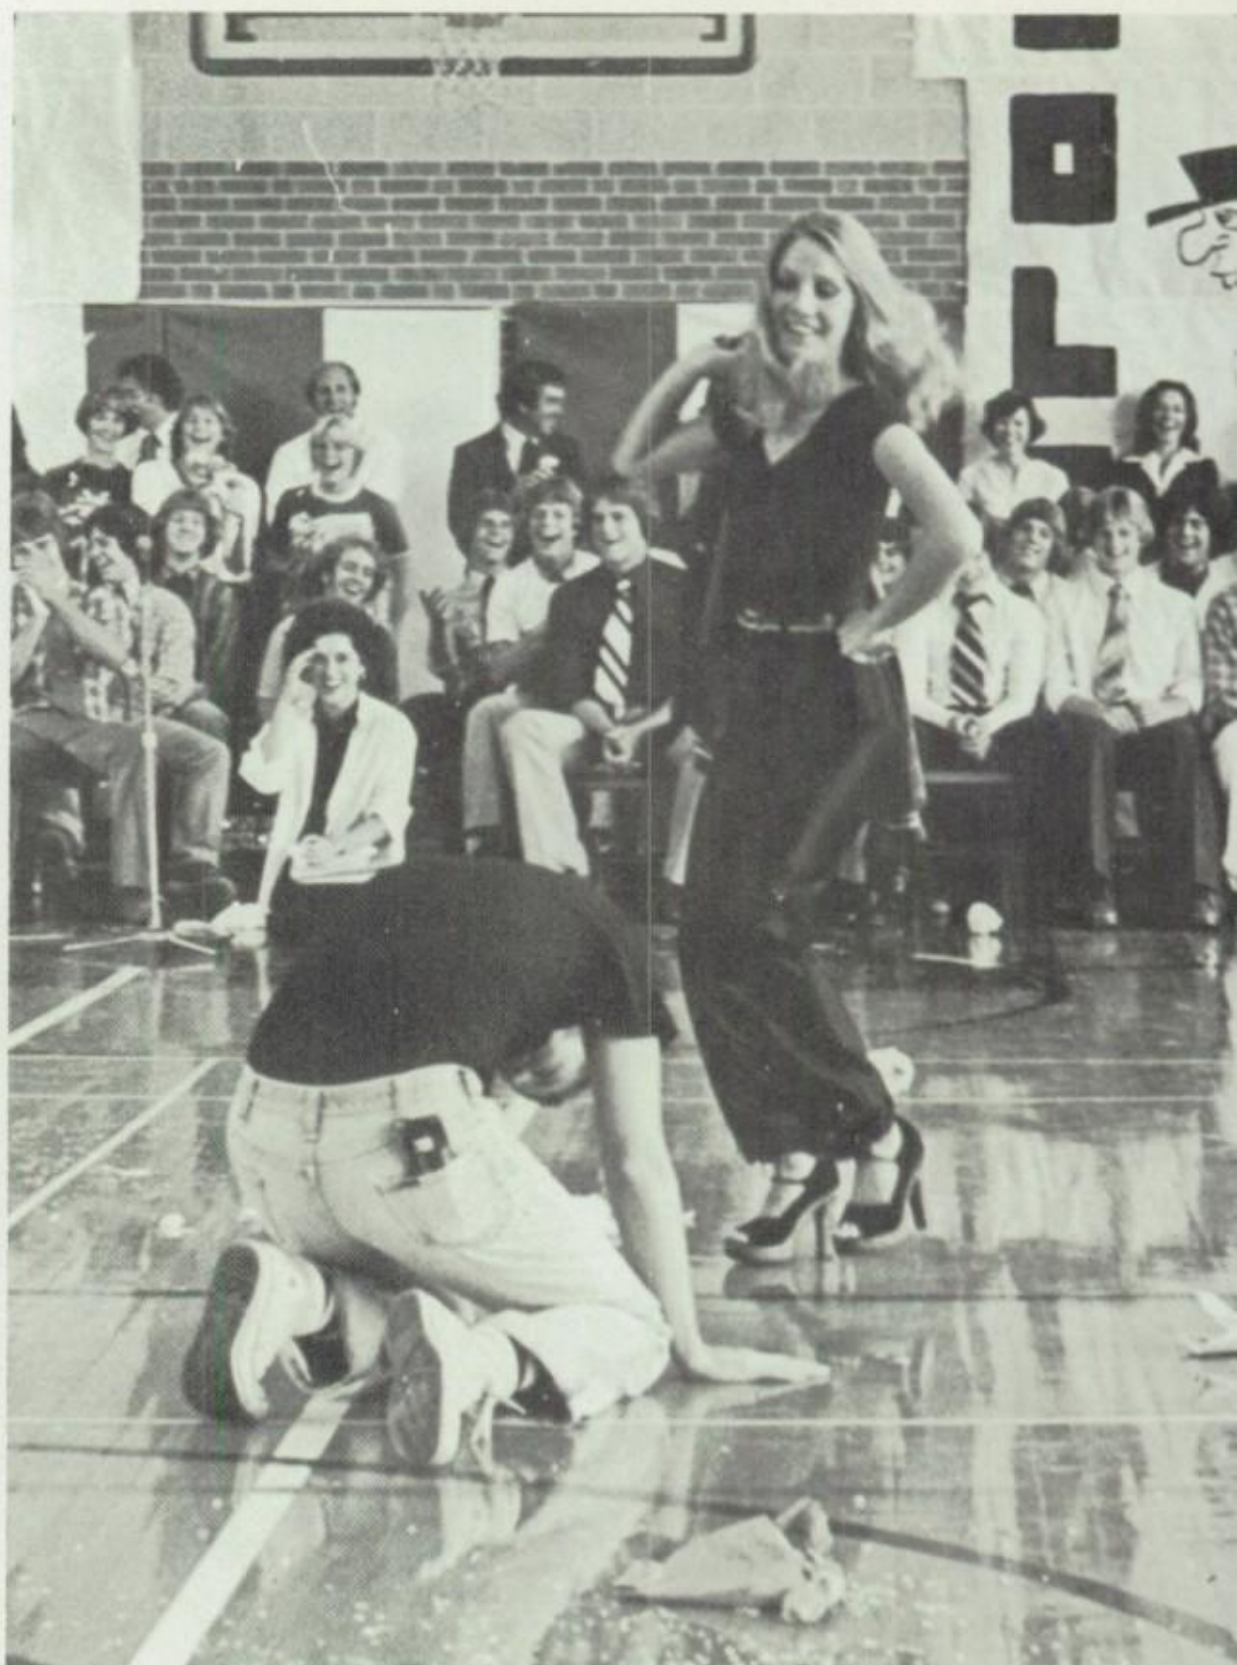

Basic courses include Fundamentals of Math and Introduction to Algebra. FOM was designed to relate math to daily living, while IA prepared students who were not yet ready to take algebra.

Trigonometry, geometry, and algebra were a part of the standard math classes.

Trigonometric relations, ratios, and the polar coordinate system were part of the trig course. Geometry consisted of problem solving by means of proofs and definitions. Algebra stressed the real number system as well as concepts of logic needed to work problems.

Other math courses studied by AHSers this year included Mathematics of Consumer Education, Computer Mathematics, Probability and Statistics, Elementary Analysis, and Calculus with Analytical Geometry.

Fine Arts Prepare Students for Life

Preparing students to meet their goals in life, the fine arts teachers worked daily with students to sharpen their skills and increase their potential.

Art teachers helped students to realize their abilities in the areas of commercial and creative art. Courses covered the techniques of painting, sketching, pottery, jewelry, graphics and textile design.

Photography students broadened their career choices with the knowledge of how to take and process pictures. More advanced students prepared for the senior slide show and made personal portfolios.

Future journalists uncovered the who's, what's, when's, where's, and why's of AHS as they covered school activities in The Colt newspaper, and The

High School's publications of The Colt and The Colt Corral.

Colt Corral. Preparing for public speaking, one of the main objectives in speech and debate, was achieved by attending and participating in oratorical tournaments.

Productions such as "Scapino," "You Can't Take it With You," and sack lunch theatres prepared tomorrow's stars for the world of theatrics.

Students with a flair for melody, both instrumental and vocal, composed Arlington High's music department. Choir members performed for the Music Educators National Conference in Colorado Springs, as well as for AHS audiences.

Practice and dedication prepared members of the stage and symphonic bands, as well as the orchestra, for concerts, football halftimes, and UIL contests.

History Lives for AHSers

Highlighting social studies courses this year were state elections and field trips to court.

Government and American History classes spent a great deal of time in the fall following the elections, which saw Texans elect a Republican governor for the first time in 105 years.

Later in the year, civics classes boarded school buses for a trip to Ft. Worth and the Tarrant County courts. Students observed both civil and criminal trials and visited county offices.

Students had a variety of courses from which to choose in the social studies department. Among these were World History, World Geography, American History, American Cultures, American Government and Sociology.

Instructors Aid Pupils in Business

Business related courses helped prepare students for future jobs in areas such as clerical, secretarial, and office positions.

Record keeping was concerned with keeping financial records for individuals and the family. Household, tax, and banking problems were approached.

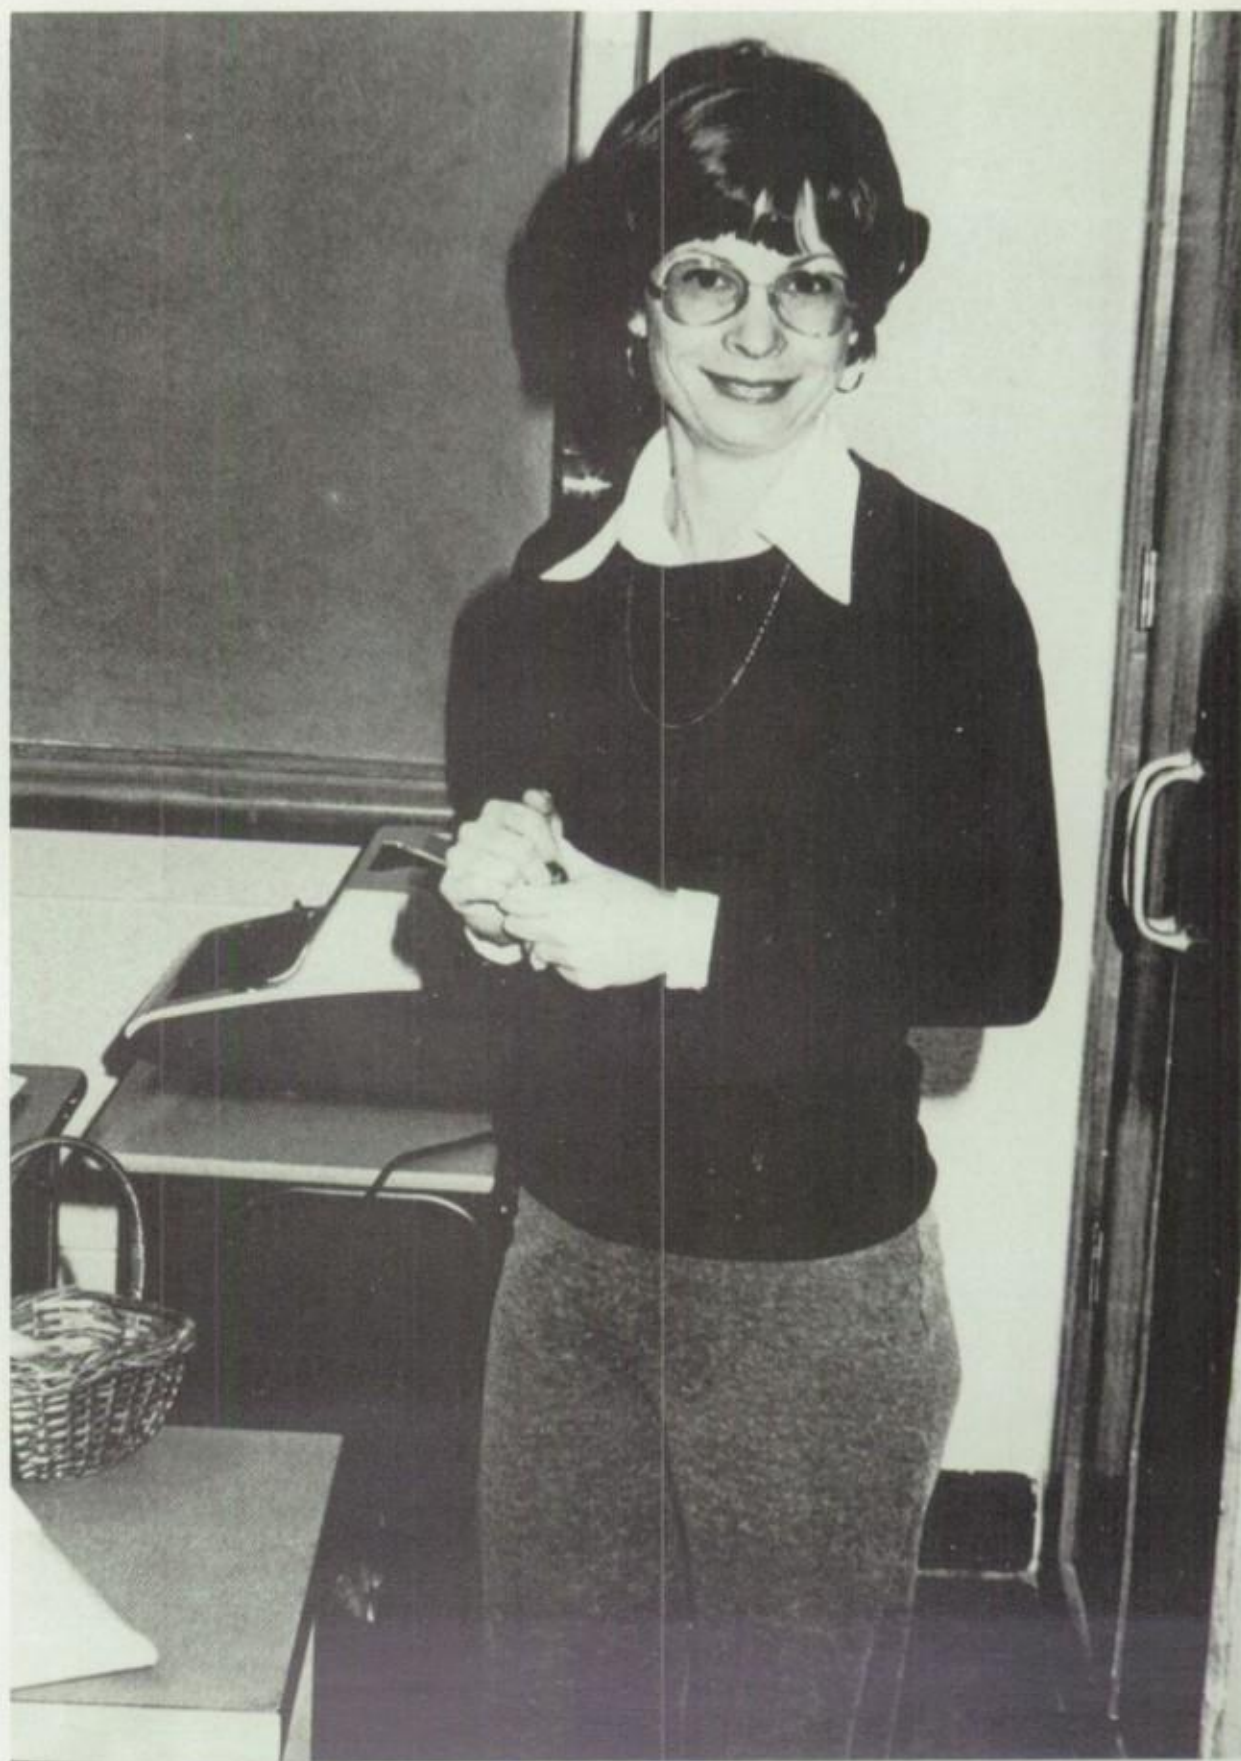

Accounting studies included terminology and basic steps to the accounting cycle. Advanced accounting built upon the student's knowledge with job simulations.

Typing I and II stressed correct form and accuracy of touch typing. Students worked on letters, manuscripts, and legal documents.

The principles of writing the alphabet, brief forms and phrases were stressed in Shorthand.

Courses which helped students discover the business field included Business Management, Business law, and Business Ownership.

Office related classes included Office Careers, Office Procedure, and Office Machines.

In Depth Courses Yield Special Training

In order to provide a wider field of learning in a variety of areas, several special courses were available to AHS students.

Homemaking classes focused on techniques of preparing nutritionally balanced meals, and sewing children's clothing as well as fashion garments. Homemaking III explored deeper with focus on preparing for the first years in a new home. Additional insight in that area was available in the Home Management and Home Furnishing courses.

Designed to prepare students for life, marriage, and family living was Home and Family Living. Guest speakers and discussions of relationships played a large part in the class.

Students in Child Development had the opportunity to work with children of various ages. Attention was directed toward the needs of children as related to their growth as individuals.

In another direction, Aerospace Education included theory of flight, aircraft structure, and an orientation to the work of the U.S. Air Force.

Vocational courses aided students in their training for future careers. A variety of vocational education courses were available to students.

Most students learned in the classroom during the earlier part of the day and put their knowledge to use in the afternoon on the job.

Working in sales positions provided career backgrounds for Distributive Education Students.

Cosmetology students learned the latest techniques in styling hair along with a knowledge in cosmetics and grooming. Many went on to take the Cosmetology Texas State Board Examination and became licensed hair dressers.

Vocational Agriculture gave pupils two options. A student could choose to raise an animal as a project or work in the Ag-Coop program in an agriculture-related business.

Health Occupations students worked part of the day in the medical field, while Vocational Office Education students spent their afternoons in offices.

General drafting, architectural drafting, wood shop, and power mechanics were also offered.

Physical Education Keeps Students Fit

Shape Up! Physical education at Arlington High School was geared to just that.

Varied activities were offered to let even a picky student enjoy some type of physical education as well as academics.

For a student who preferred indoor sports, volleyball, basketball, and weightlifting were available. An outdoor lover had tennis, baseball, track, and golf to choose from.

Coaches' teaching spread to other areas of instruction. Health, a required course, included learning about first aid and diseases.

'79 Seniors Work Hard For Money

The Senior class, under the guidance of officers and sponsors, spent a busy year.

Money raising endeavors, begun in the summer of '78 at Six Flags, included Colt County Fair events, movies, and dances.

Activities sponsored by the class were the design and structure of the Homecoming float, and organizing a pizzathon.

Seniors also participated in Spirit Week during which they took prizes by decorating the middle hall and selling the most spirit balloons.

Officers of the class included Reecanne Washington, president; Paul Courtney, vice-president; Yajalene Ross, secretary; Chris Wade, treasurer; and Roger Reynolds and Diane Valentine, social chairmen.

Events Fill Last Days

Forgotten was the bickering over the site of the prom as the night arrived soon for the seniors of '79. Dresses, tuxes, and, of course, the buzz of who came with whom and who's wearing what all climaxed Friday, April 20 at the Sheraton in Dallas.

Living to the music of Savvy, couples twirled and swirled showing off their fancy spring duds.

Seniors made the scene at Barrbrook Park May 21 for the annual senior picnic. Although flash flood warnings blasted over the radio, "Old Faithfuls" managed to show up for the picnic. Volleyball, frisbees, swimming, and eventually, sun, filled the day.

Hard work paid off as the seniors scampered to the auditorium for the annual Senior Assembly. Friends sat together clapping and sharing in one another's honors, awards, and scholarships. The slide show topped off the assembly perfectly and teary-eyed seniors trudged back to class.

Life Begins Fresh Again For Seniors

Concluding 12 years of friends, fun, excitement, and of course, education, seniors participated in their final ceremonies, Vespers and Commencement.

Sunday, May 27, seniors gathered at Texas Hall at 2 p.m. to participate in the Vespers ceremony. To begin the service, Clint Bullard accompanied Martha Postlethwaite in a duet, the class song, "Do You Know Where You're Going To?"

Juli Baker's poem, "Reflections" was the theme of the program. Chosen by the class to present speeches were Reecanne Washington, Robin Foster, Susie Reeves, Jeff Lambert, Marty Wieder, Dave Joeckel, Mr. Randy Porter, Mr. Barry Wilmoth and Miss Lissa Mooneyham.

Seniors reminisced high school days as they met together as class for the last time, May 31, 1979, 8 p.m., at Texas Hall.

Pierre Jeanray, AFS Foreign Exchange Student, began the evening with a piano prelude. Paul Courtney led the audience in the invocation and Reecanne Washington recognized guests.

Bill Pribyl began the speeches with the Salutatory Address and Seniors Laura McKaig and Elizabeth Rollins presented the Honor Speeches. Doug Moore then gave the Valedictorian Address.

3 Perform in Orchestra

Music has been a part of Jon Eichelberger, Lea Davis, and Clark Liddell for several years. Involved in Fort Worth's Youth Orchestra, the trio has been busy with Saturday morning and Monday night practices for the past several years. Having to try out every year, the group cannot afford to get behind.

Clark has been involved for the past three years. Equipment manager for the Chamber Orchestra, he plays the cello.

Lea began her music experience nine years ago also playing the cello. She has been a member of the Youth Orchestra for two years.

Jon plays the string bass and has been involved in music for the past seven years. He, also, has been in the Fort Worth Youth Orchestra for two years.

Sheila's Time Distributed Among Others

Only special people totally give their lives to an operation which does not promise them any personal profit. Sheila Weaver is one of those special people.

Sheila started as a volunteer in TARS (Teens Aid the Retarded) on her twelfth birthday. Her interest was aroused after her younger sister attended the TARS activities.

While most seniors' Saturdays are spent relaxing, Sheila spends hers working at TARS. Serving as activity chairman, she plans Saturday events which range from dances to campouts.

During the summer Sheila works with the mentally retarded at an Arlington Recreation Department-sponsored day camp.

Dedicated Senior Speaks Out for Two

Correspondence courses and practice have led Mark Jacobs and Harry (his partner), to their fame as a ventriloquism team.

Beginning when he was 11 years old, Mark has been involved in ventriloquism for seven years.

He has performed for several churches and camps, and says the enjoyment he gets from it comes when he makes people laugh.

Mark's advice to anyone who would like to take up the art is "to buy a cheap figure, practice a lot, don't perform until you are prepared, and have a well-planned, written routine."

Mark Jacobs and Harry carry on a conversation similar to one used in their shows.

Senior Practices Magic in Spare Time

Magician Alan Scarborough demonstrates his latest trick before a live performance.

Disappearing people, rabbits and black hats make up the world we imagine as magic. Senior Alan Scarborough has been involved in magic for four years, and knows what the field is really like.

A friend of Alan's aroused his interest in the subject, and gradually Alan bought tricks and practiced his sleight of hand.

Alan has performed for special groups such as TARS, (Teens Aid the Retarded), and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundations. He also worked as Cyrus Cosmo, a magical character at Six Flags, and performed in a magic shop at the amusement park.

He has printed his own business card and is working with an agent on scheduling his shows.

Alan suggests future magicians start out small and practice.

Senior Bill Bunch swims the breast stroke during his workout. Bill has placed in the nation's Top Ten for the breast stroke.

Senior Bill Bunch has participated in competitive swimming for 10 years and has a bunch of awards to show for his efforts.

Bill competes in the 100 and 200-yard breast stroke, 200 individual medley, 50 fly, 50 back, 50 breast, and 50 free. He has proved his hard workouts and training to be profitable by attaining several awards and honors.

Included in these are a Top 10 in the nation in 1975 in the 160-yard breast stroke, various awards at state championship age-group meets from 1971-77, and third in the state high school meet in the 100 breast stroke.

California has been Bill's residence for the past two summers. Under Coach Dick Jochums, University of Arizona; coaches from the World Games in Berlin, and coaches of many Olympic champions, Bill received excellent training.

"My goal for this year is to make high school All-American time standards," Bill said, "and hopefully earn a scholarship to a major swimming university."

Bill even has high hopes for the 1980 Olympics. "The Olympics are in the back of my mind. I can only say I will definitely be at the Olympic trials."

Arlington Senior Learns Unique Trade

Funeral work has been the occupation of Senior Bob Schmidt for the past one and one-half years. Bob is employed at Moore Funeral Home, where he practices preparing the dead.

His grandfather owned the Burk's Walker Tippet Funeral Home in Tyler, where Bob plans his future career. His goal is to buy the home and get it back into the family.

Bob's current schedule consists of working six nights a week from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. at the mortuary, and school at AHS from 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.

Bob claims there have been no real problems concerning his age. "People tend to be uneasy at first, but soon they realize it is something that has to be done."

For anyone who would like to tackle this type of career, Bob has some advice, "If you are going to do it, you have to put it in a frame of mind that you yourself can live with."

Class Hosts Good Times

After recovering from a hectic sophomore year, juniors began preparing for that in-between stage of high school.

Recognizing their need for leadership, the juniors elected their class officers the previous spring. Laura Field became the president. Others chosen were Robert Schrickel, vice president; Lisa Beeching, secretary; Kathy Ziegler, and Sheri Whitfield, social chairman.

Beginning the year with mighty Colt Spirit, the juniors won several Spirit Sticks by out-yelling other classes in the battle-cry at Pep rallies. The Colt County Fair was right around the corner after football season was over. Creating a junior jail and selling ice cream were two of the money-raising activities the junior class sponsored this year.

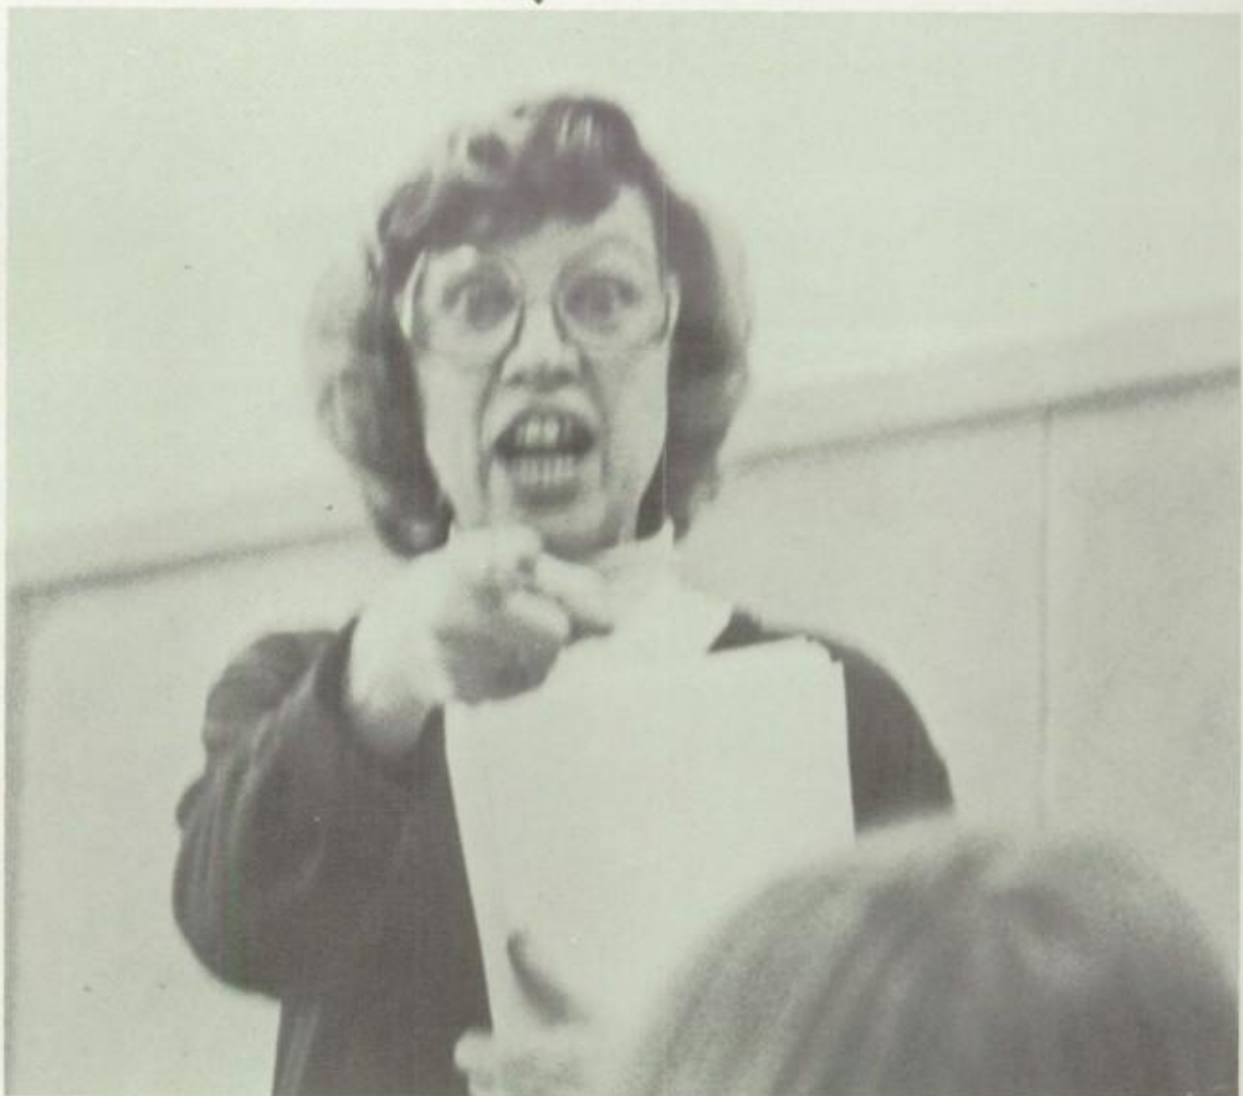

Interested teachers devoted much of their free time to help with these activities. Junior sponsors included Mrs. Lou Baker, Mr. Bill Fink, Mrs. Margaret Fry, Mrs. Loveta Moore, Mrs. Martha Roark, Mrs. Vanyelle Williams, and Mrs. Pat Thompson.

(A) Mr. Barry Wilmoth "busily" instructs his American History class. (B) "I Want You", exclaims Mrs. Lou Baker to one of the junior officers.

Sophs Begin Year Right

Beginning a new school year is always an exciting experience. But when it involves going from junior high to high school, the experience turns into a stepping stone to the future.

The sophomore class would not function without capable leaders. Early in the school year, they elected their officers to carry out the tasks of guiding the class through the coming months. Missy Forrest took the office of president. Others chosen were Terri Jordan, vice president; Carlye Brookshire, secretary; Bruce Rohne, boy's social chairman; and Belinda Gallugh and Julie Taylor, girls' social chairmen.

Jumping into the school year with admirable Colt Spirit, the sophomores threw themselves wholeheartedly into building the winning Homecoming float. Later in the year, they raised money during the Colt County Fair by selling green Colt flower pots, and a cake walk.

Faculty sponsors included Mr. Jack Covington, Mrs. Diane Marlar, Mrs. Mary Clements, Mr. Bob Nutter, Miss Cindy Mitchell, Mrs. Sharon Phemister, Mrs. Joanne Richey, and Mr. Mike Wharton.

$52,000 bid buys steer, world record

Star-Telegram Agribusiness Writer

Fate in a jammed auction barn sealed a $52,000 record bid for the grand champion steer Saturday but robbed the owner of the reserve grand champion out of $10,000 at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

Don Hansen, who led a 21-contributor effort to raise the $52,000, took the grand champion with his world record bid but later was unhappy when he learned the reserve grand was auctioned before he could bid.

For the third straight year, Hansen set records for bids at the steer auction for junior exhibitors, but he said he had planned to buy the reserve for $17,000. The crowd and news media interviews held him back while the auction hurried on.

Sonya Deatherage, 13, of Stanton was the lucky girl who toted off the $52,000 check for her grand champion Limousin crossbred, "Buddy."

Becky Lindsey, 18, of Mullin would have gotten Hansen's $17,000 check instead of the $7,000 one she received from Miller Brewery of Fort Worth and Dallas for her Limousin-Angus crossbred, "Last Chance."

"I'm sorry he didn't get to do what he wanted to do," said show President-General Manager W.R. "Bob" Watt. "Had we known he wanted to bid, we would have made sure he'd been there."

Picture taking in the ring was over before bidding opened on the reserve champion, Watt said.

Hansen admitted he got sidelined in the rear pens by other photographers and reporters.

Hansen Enterprises had two goals in mind — break the world's record of $50,000 set in Houston in 1975 and break the $16,500 local reserve steer record price Hansen paid last year.

Hansen said he and fellow enterprise bidder Charlie Hillard of Charlie Hillard Ford found themselves cornered by news reporters, photographers and well-wishers as Sonya led her steer out behind the arena for pictures.

Caught up in the chaos of victory in an overcrowded barn, the two freewheeling bidders found the bidding on Becky's steer over before they could get back to the ring, Hansen said.

"It all went so fast," Hansen said later. He even had a big cardboard check ready for her like the one for Sonya, he told the Star-Telegram. "It was over before we knew what was happening."

Hansen's group of 21 businessmen, interested citizens and even one entertainer — Glen Campbell — had pooled their finances to collect the $52,000. Hansen said he and others in the group also had

World Events

. . . For this is the fountain of youth.

Throughout the year I have collected news articles about some of the major occurrences in the world. These articles that I have mounted in my scrapbook are, by no means, the only important events. They are simply a few, among the many, events that occurred during my 1979 school year. I have gathered these articles and displayed them here to allow posterity to view the events of the late '70's.

The last tankers loaded with Iranian crude oil were steaming toward Western ports last week—and suddenly, the world was on red alert. U.S. Energy Secretary James Schlesinger shocked the nation with a warning that the shutdown of the world's second-largest oil exporter is "prospectively more serious" than the traumatic oil embargo and OPEC price-quadrupling of 1973-1974. Economists from Washington to Tokyo feverishly reassessed the global impact of Iran's turmoil. And Jimmy Carter's trip to Mexico this week took on a new sense of urgency even though hope for near-term relief from the world's newest oil crisis seemed dim.

World markets reflected the shock. After Iran announced the cancellation of billions of dollars in U.S. contracts, the dollar slumped against other major currencies. And the American stock index accelerated, and share prices rose throughout the West. In record jumps to a high of 254 an ounce, with prices of gold and other "real assets" well behind. "What's behind this?" said economist Albert Rees, "the possibility of a major disaster."

In the event, a shortage is already fact: how much oil exports to the West are more than supplies to the West. With stocks of oil companies having begun to show up in some shortages of heating oil and gas. Even worse, the chaos in the Middle East is expected to continue for some time—and it is that oil production will never again reach crisis levels.

policy analysis for Gulf Oil Co. "The situation could become very untenable and if that happens—Katy, bar the door. Already, OPEC watchers warn that the cartel will take advantage of the supply shortage to raise prices much higher and far more than planned. And a growth among many oil producers makes prospects for production—and lower oil prices—dim. The dimensions of the potential to sink in on Congress or an openly skeptical after energy false alarms. Even some in the Carter Administration question Schlesinger's credibility (page 22). "It's a crisis situation, nobody's panicking," says the Energy Department aide, Charles F. Council of Economic Advisors. He said that the crisis posed only a temporary problem compared to the five-year oil price boost of 1973-74, and that the economic damage was not as severe as International Energy Agency officials had feared. He said that the world is expected to absorb an oil crisis by finding new sources of petroleum for conservation and a heightened awareness of

ALLOUT IN THE WEST

The strength of such assurances, the steady late last week. But the impact from the Iranian crisis is sure to be felt by all Western economies—and most heavily by the U.S. Some American consumers are already paying slightly higher prices for home heating oil and finding shortages of unleaded gasoline. By this spring, Schlesinger warns, they may have to start turning down thermostats and cutting back driving, and the shortage could reach crisis proportions.

Dangers lie ahead, but Carter's diplomatic coup was masterful

The gesture was eloquent. Emerging from the doorway of Air Force One on the floodlit tarmac at Andrews Air Force Base last week, an exhausted Jimmy Carter greeted several thousand welcomers by flinging open his arms. It was a movement that oddly combined a sense of triumph with jubilation of martyrdom. Said Carter, "I believe that God has answered our prayers." He had taken a tremendous risk. At times during his presidency, he had won. At times during his presidency, he had lost. His attempt to forge an Egyptian-Israeli peace, failure seemed all but certain. Discouraged aides talked openly of the trip being "a debacle." But at the last moment, he achieved a victory of diplomacy that has brought the world to the threshold of peace. By ending 30 years of enmity and four wars. By ending and persistent personal inter-

States of America." Then he told the gathering what it had come to hear: years of American diplomacy and months of his own administration's extraordinarily intense efforts brought Egypt and Israel to a peace agreement. "We have now done what we have vowed to do," said Anwar Sadat, Egyptian President. "We have broken the barrier of bitterness and hatred that has existed between the two peoples for so long." He said that the U.S. was proud to participate in the peace process and also risked "the prestige of the U.S." the President stressed that "the efforts would have been worth making regardless of the outcome. In war, we offer our very lives as a matter of routine. We must be and Israel successfully. On Sunday the Egyptian Cabinet unanimously approved the final agreement. Congratulating Sadat and Sadat, Carter declared that the peace which their peoples so clearly need and want is close to reality." Said Sadat in Cairo: "I think we have achieved peace, thanks to Jimmy." Meanwhile, the Israeli and Egyptian Defense Ministers met in Washington to put the final touches on the annex dealing with the military terms of the treaty. The two also separately presented their requests for U.S. military aid. The main hurdle left for the treaty was the approval of Israel's Knesset. Debate begins early this week and is expected to last for a few days. Although rhetorical fireworks are anticipated, Begin is certain to come under bl

The large central building was ringed by bright colors. It looked like a parking lot filled with cars. When the plane dipped lower, the cars turned out to be bodies. Scores and scores of bodies—hundreds of bodies—wearing red dresses, blue T shirts, green blouses, pink slacks, children's polka-dotted jumpers. Couples with their arms around each other, children holding parents. Nothing moved. Washing hung on the clotheslines. The fields were freshly plowed. Banana trees and grape vines were flourishing. But nothing moved."

So reported TIME Correspondent Donald Neff, one of the first newsmen to fly in last week to the hitherto obscure hamlet of Jonestown in the jungles of Guyana, on the northern coast of South America. The scene below him was one of almost unimaginable carnage. In an appalling demonstration of the way in which a charismatic leader can bend the will of his followers with a devilish blend of professed altruism and psychology, some 900 members of the Guyana-based Peoples Temple died in a ritual of mass murder.

Not since hundreds of civilians leaped to their deaths from the cliffs of Saipan as American bombers approached the Pacific island in 1945 has there been a comparable act of collective self-destruction. As a devotee of the Rev. Jim Jones, 47, who recruited Indiana-born humanists, the cult degenerated into egomania. Jones, 53, had first ambushed and then, in 1978, was killing Congressmen, including Americans, killing Congressman Leo Ryan, 53, the congressman and one defector from the Jonestown colony at Jonestown, Guyana, supported by their leader, in the Jonestown massacre. Armed guards and lured by promises of food, drugs and painkillers, parents and children were used to squirt a concoction of potassium cyanide and potassium...

new mysteries about Jones' cult. The bodies swelled and rotted in the tropical sun, two U.S. military helicopters flew in to bring back the remains of missing relatives. At the same time, rescue helicopters whirled over the jungle for survivors who were thought to have fled from the cult. There was speculation that the colony had been terrorized by Jones, who was rumored to have cancer. Police found huge quantities of illegal arms, ranging from shotguns and rifles to crossbows, but hundreds of thousands of dollars had been lost from the colony's safe. At the creek's end did officials declare that there were virtually no survivors left, and that the death toll, as first announced, but

...rists and other experts on psychology and mind-control techniques offered rational explanations of how humans can be conditioned to commit such irrational acts (see box). Yet the tales told by those who survived were both fearsomely fascinating and ultimately inexplicable. How could such idealistic, if naive, people set out to build an idyllic haven from modern society's many pressures and turn it into a hellish colony of death? This is how the Jonestown dream turned into a nightmare:

In the spring of 1977, Ryan, a liberal but maverick Democrat, spoke with a longtime friend, Associated Press Photographer Robert Houston. Houston, who was ill, told Ryan that Houston's son Bob, 33, had been found dead in the San Francisco railroad yards, where he worked, just one day after he had quit the Peoples Temple. Though authorities said his son died as the result of an accidental fall, Houston claimed the cult had long threatened defectors with death.

A loner who liked doing his own investigating of constituents' concerns, Ryan began inquiring about Jim the entrance to the nity unit. At 10:45 p.m., John Br

as summoned
back to the hospital after midnight.
the announcement
e: "Mrs. Brown has been safely
ed by caesarean
section of a fema
d. The child's condition at birth cellent. All examinations show
to be quite normal."

The next day, as John, Lesley and Louise Brown waited for pictures, Dr. Patrick Steptoe and Robert Edwards spoke openly about their achievement for the first time at a press conference. Steptoe explained that the baby was delivered early by a cesarean section because Lesley Brown had developed toxemia, a disorder of pregnancy usually associated with high blood pressure that can lead to stillbirth. But the delivery was uneventful. Said Steptoe of Louise: "She came out crying and healthy, a beautiful, normal baby."

Free balloonists make history

The apparition that graced the skies over France last week looked rather like a giant exclamation point, which was entirely appropriate for the occasion. An enormous blimp—eleven stories high—sailing majestically through the air at 2 m.p.h., while in a red and yellow balloon rode three bleary-eyed Americans, their excitement over the event tempered by their exhaustion.

With elation and dignity, the helium-filled balloon landed in a wheat field in the town of Miserey, 50 miles west of Paris. When hundreds of cars had roared to the scene and viewers were straining to see the tiny triangle venture into the sky again, the American popper, Mark F. Gottle, stepped forward, page after page, to explain the end of the era. He began by telling the crowd that the balloon was a Bertha, a 1930s model. And then, in a series of sentences, all from a unique perspective, he set a historic first in the history of the balloon, making a 3,100-mile trip from Presque Isle, Me., to Miserey in 5 days, 17 hr. and 6 min.

The flight gave a lift to American spirits, providing an occasion for some pardonable national pride. The Albuquerque three had openly modeled their adventure after the famous airplane flight of Charles Lindbergh. Their craft was named the Double Eagle II, in honor of the Lone Eagle himself. They had wanted to land at Le Bourget, where Lucky Lindy had crashed down on May 21, 1927. They landed 60 miles short of Le Bourget.

The Colt Corral Staff
urges you to patronize the advertisers who have given us their support.
Without their help the cost of this book would be greatly increased.

It's more than leaving a familiar place
More than leaving a few friendly faces —
More like leaving some of myself
Behind on display for anyone to see;
It's time to grow into myself —
Time to grow
over disappointments
Time to grow up to my goals
Through changes of pace — varied patterns.

All the good — All the bad
Blend into bittersweet;
All the sad — All the laughs
I know I could never repeat;
So let me cry today
So I can remember to smile tomorrow.

Juli Baker

I chose these words and these pictures to complete my account of the 1979 school year. I feel that through the pictures the words more clearly depict the emotions, ideas, and hopes of all of us at Arlington High.

None of us is born the same, we don't know why, it's the way we came. Every heart beats a little differently, each soul is free to find its way, like a river that winds its way to the sea. For life is a journey, and there are many roads beneath the sky; And there are many good people who don't see eye to eye.

We were all a little different, but we shared our spirits.

As we approach the end of the year, we also approach another bend in the river of life.

It took many small steps in the long journey to get where we are today.

You and I are different from our brother . . . could that be why we need each other as we go along? Everyone is partly right, and everyone is partly wrong. Not every man can sing your tune, from where he stands there's another view. With every turn we're learning more, and perhaps we'll find that the walls we build are only, are only in the mind.

We all spoke our minds, but not everyone understood our song.

Each day we learned more and more from our administrators, teachers, friends, and from the voice inside ourselves.

There are many roads to go, and they go by many names. They don't all go the same way, but they get there all the same. And I have a feeling that we'll meet some day, where the roads come together, up the way.

As one road ends, another road joins it to take us where we choose to go.
